MONTANA IS DIVIDED.

Democrats Concede the Election of a Republican Congressman.

THE LEGISLATURE DEMOCRATIC

Both Sides Are Claiming the Governor, With Toole in the Lead—There Is Little New to Tell About the Dakotas.

HELENA, Mont., Oct. 2.—The democrats concede the election of Carter to congress. Toole, Dem., is 800 ahead of Powers, Rep., for governor, with four counties, claimed by both parties, still unheard from. The democrats have the legislature by a small majority. The republicans elect a majority of the minor state officers.

The Independent claims the election of Toole, Dem., by three to four hundred, and a majority of nine on joint ballot in the legislature. All figures on majorities are estimated, as the count is not yet completed in any county.

IN SOUTH DAKOTA.

Pierre Seems to Have Won the Contest for the Capital.

PIERRE, S. D., Oct. 2.—South Dakota's first state election descended to a degrading scramble for the capital location. There was no fight on anything else.

Mellette is elected governor by over 20,000 majority.

Pickler and Gifford go to congress.

The republican majority in the legislature will be at least sixty, insuring the election of two republican United States senators.

The vote is enormous, probably 80,000 for the capital. Pierre, Huron, Watertown, Chamberlain, Sioux Falls and Mitchel were entered. Reports received this morning indicated the vote for Pierre at 25,000, Huron 21,000, Sioux Falls 11,000, Watertown 10,000, Mitchell 7000 and Chamberlain 5000.

Huron claims to have secured the capital, as also does Sioux Falls.

Little attention is given to minority representation. It is doubtless defeated.

The fate of prohibition hangs in the balance. On a square fight it would probably have been carried, but the votes on this question were recklessly traded on the capital location.

REPUBLICAN ESTIMATES.

ABERDEEN, S. D., Oct. 2.—The republican state central committee estimates this morning the republican state ticket elected by 20,000 majority; that prohibition is carried by from 10,000 to 15,000 majority; that Pierre has 25,000 votes for the temporary capital, with Huron a good second. Pierre will undoubtedly be the temporary capital.

PIERRE HAS WON.

SIOUX FALLS, Dak., Oct. 2.—Up to 11 P. M. specials to the Daily Press show the following condition of affairs in the capital contest: Pierre 13,924, Huron 11,776, Sioux Falls 11,410. The success of Pierre is generally conceded.

NORTH DAKOTA.

Prohibition Is Defeated by About 2000 Majority—Everything Is Republican.

FARGO, Dak., Oct. 2.—The total vote is not as heavy as expected, probably about 37,000. Many people have moved away from Ramsey, Eddy and Nelson counties, owing to the failure of crops.

The contest over the judgeships is extremely close.

The prohibitionists claim to have carried the territory. Fargo, Bismarck and Grand Forks vote strongly pro-liquor, and unprejudiced calculators believe the prohibitionists are beaten by at least 2000.

The constitution is indorsed with a rousing majority.

Returns to 11 o'clock this morning at the headquarters of the republican state central committee give Miller, Rep., a majority over Roach for governor of 6172. The average republican majority is 7000. Hansbrough's majority for congress is 8000. Private returns show a total majority of 2100 against prohibition.

Sixty-eight republican members of the legislature are known to be elected. The republicans claim a total of 75. Ex-Governor Pierce's friends claim 71 on joint ballot for U. S. senator.

AN EPITOME OF THE RETURNS.

It Contains Nothing Tending to Lessen the Republican Victory.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 2.—The returns from North Dakota show that Miller, Rep., for governor received 5000 more votes than Roach, Dem. All the returns yet received indicate that the vote for congressman drew out at least 2000 more votes, making the majority for H. C. Hansborough for congress 7000 or more. Returns sufficient to indicate the results have been received from twenty-six of the thirty-one legislative districts in the state. There are twenty republican, five democratic and one independent republican senators, and forty-two republican and ten democratic representatives. Of the new district judges the republicans elected three and the democrats three.

The election of officers and congressman in South Dakota cut rather a small figure, the vote being acknowledged to be one-sided. The contest for the location of the capital overshadowed all else. Late this afternoon the first vote came from the Black Hills region, which was thought to hold the balance of power, and it was so overwhelmingly in favor of Pierre that it seems but right that the residents of that city should continue the jollification which was started this morning.

THE IDAHO CONSTITUTION.

Governor Shoup Will Call a Special Election for November 5.

BOISE CITY, Idaho, Oct. 2.—Governor Shoup will to-morrow issue his proclamation calling a special election on adoption of the constitution of Idaho, to be held November 5. The governor adds: "I respectfully urge every elector in the territory to read the constitution carefully and without prejudice, and on election day let every legal voter, irrespective of party, cast his ballot conscientiously for or against the constitution. The convention was composed of talented and conscientious men, representing all the leading professions and industries, who worked faithfully, zealously and energetically for thirty-four days. The result of their arduous labors is a constitution which commends itself to the people. You will bear in mind that there never has, never will be nor is it in the power of men to frame a constitution that will meet the views of all. The framers of the constitution, fully realizing this fact, labored earnestly to harmonize all conflicting interests. If twenty conventions were held it is not probable that one of them would frame a constitution with as few defects as the one now submitted for your examination, and upon which you are to vote. It is hardly to be presumed that the intelligent citizens of the territory who are called upon to exercise and pass on this constitution, whether farmers, mechanics, laborers, miners, stockgrowers, merchants, or those engaged in and representing other interests and vocations, after such examination, will oppose the adoption of it upon mere technical grounds. There is a higher consideration to be given to the merit it contains and the advantages of statehood which it seeks to achieve. Looking, therefore, at the constitution as perfected by the convention referred to, I cannot but believe that its adoption by the voters of the territory on the 5th day of November by the largest legal vote that can be brought out at the polls, will prove the most influential act towards securing the admission of Idaho as one of the states of this Union, thereby realizing to the people the blessings of statehood, which must inevitably give new life to our development and rapidly advance the material interests of our commonwealth."

POWDERLY ON THE K. OF L.

The Grand Master Workman Says the Order Is Prospering and Growing Fast.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 2.—In an interview to-day, Grand Master Workman Powderly said: "As to the statements that the Knights of Labor have been losing power and that they have no confidence in the executive committee, there is no truth in them. The order has been growing rapidly within the last year, and the greatest cause of its growth is the feeling that the executive board is acting in a manner conducive to the best interests of the order."

J. J. Holland, of Jacksonville, Fla., said: "The whole animus of the opposition to Powderly originated in the process of house-cleaning which we adopted some time ago. Many unruly and bad elements were expelled. Since that they have been making war on the management of the order, but with little success. In the South the negroes are joining the order in great numbers. There is scarcely a doubt that an alliance of some kind will be made between the Farmers' Alliance, the Wheelers and the Knights of Labor. The former organizations are particularly strong in the Southwest. As to the charges of extravagance on the part of Powderly with regard to the Southwestern strikes, those have been declared groundless by authorized assemblies time and again, and for these men to try to say anything against his conduct now is simply absurd."

The Globe-Democrat gives a sensational interview with one of the Knights of Labor, who claimed at last night's meeting that his name, among others, as attached to that document indorsing Furlong for chief of the secret service, was a forgery. Upon being questioned and with the understanding that his name would not be mentioned, he said: "The names were not forgeries. When we signed them we did so with the understanding that the recommendations were to be filed in Washington for official eyes only, but the committee betrayed us. While we signed them for the president's eye, we didn't sign them for the public eye."

Three other Knights of Labor also concurred in the above story.

To-night General Master Workman Powderly visited the local assemblies, and addressed them briefly on matters pertaining to the good of the order. He was accompanied by members of the general executive board.

An anti-Powderly demonstration at Central Turner hall to-night had a small attendance. Editor Detwiler, of Chicago, arraigned Powderly and the executive board for wasting the funds of the order, and said that Powderly was a poor general to lead the army to victory.

W. H. Blake pictured "Poverty Palace" in Philadelphia, and charged corruption all around.

ST. LOUIS RACES.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 2.—Diamond won the unfinished 2:25 trot to-day in 2:22¼, Thalberg finishing weak. The latter was taken away from his owner, S. C. Bates, yesterday, on suspicion of improper driving, but was tendered to Bates after the race. He refused to accept unless the judges acknowledged their error. They refused, and Bates was expelled from the American trotting association.

2:40 class trotting, purse $1000—Middleway first, W. H. Bailey second, Jean Valjean third, Georgie distanced; best time, 2:22½.

St. Louis fair produce stakes, $600—Effie Rene first, Ella C. second, Monte third; best time, 2:48½.

BASEBALL.

Chicago, New York, Philadelphia and Cleveland the League Winners.

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—Chicago won to-day's game by bunching their hits in the seventh and eighth innings. Krock was very wild, and many of his bases on balls proved to be runs. Attendance, 250. Score—Chicago 9, Washington 7. Base hits—Chicago 12, Washington 9. Errors—Chicago 6, Washington 3. Batteries—Chicago, Hutchinson and Darling; Washington, Krock and Dailey. Umpire—Sullivan.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 2.—The Giants went back to the first place to-day in defeating the home team. Sowders was hit hard when the hits made runs, while Crane, barring a little wildness, pitched great ball, as twelve men left on bases in six innings will show. Both teams fielded without an error. Score—Pittsburg 3, New York 6. Base hits—Pittsburg 8, New York 10. Errors—Pittsburg 0, New York 0. Batteries—Pittsburg, Sowder and Carroll; New York, Crane and Ewing. Umpire—Lynch.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 2.—The Phillies hit the ball hard to-day and won from the Hoosiers with hands down. In the sixth inning they bunched eight hits on Boyle, which with Sommers' muff netted them eight runs. Rusie pitched the last two innings. Score—Indianapolis 2, Philadelphia 12. Base hits—Indianapolis 6, Philadelphia 21. Errors—Indianapolis 2, Philadelphia 4. Batteries—Indianapolis, Boyle, Rusie and Daily; Philadelphia, Buffington and Clements. Umpire—Knight.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 2.—Clarkson was not very puzzling to Cleveland batters to-day and was hit in three innings, which yielded seven runs. The feature of the game was the disturbance created by Mike Kelly, who, it is claimed, was intoxicated. He was not playing and commented freely on the game. Finally, attempting to assault the umpire, he was ejected from the grounds by the police. Score—Cleveland 7, Boston 1. Base hits—Cleveland 8, Boston 4. Errors—None. Batteries—Cleveland, Beatin and Sutcliffe; Boston, Clarkson and Bennett. Umpire—McQuade.

A VALUABLE MAN

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 2.—It is stated that the agent for the Philadelphia league club offered $15,000 for the release of Captain Comiskey, of the Browns, but that the offer was refused.

IN GENERAL CONVENTION.

A Notable Meeting of the Protestant Episcopal Church of America.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church of America opened this morning at St. George's church. It is looked upon as one of the most notable conventions ever held by the church in this country, from the number of important subjects to come up. One is the proposal to change the name, and another that of proportionate representation. There are also eighteen resolutions proposing alterations in the book of common prayer.

The convention opened with a communion service, followed by a reception of the house of bishops, who marched in a body. After the morning service Bishop Whipple, of Minnesota, preached the sermon of the day.

At the afternoon session Dr. Morgan Dix was declared presiding officer by unanimous vote. After the appointment of several assistant secretaries, adjournment was had until to-morrow.

Elegant new dining-cars daily from Portland to Chicago and St. Louis, via Oregon Railway & Nav. Co., Oregon Short Line, and Union Pacific. Twenty one hours quicker to all points east than any other transcontinental line. Pullman palace sleepers and free family sleeping-cars on all through trains. SOLIDLY REPUBLICAN

Later Returns Verify the First Reports From Washington.

THE CAPITAL QUESTION CLOSE

Olympia Leads, but Probably Falls Short of a Majority—The Legislature Is Overwhelmingly Republican.

OLYMPIA, Oct. 2.—The Washington constitution has been adopted by 18,000 to 25,000 majority. The whole republican state ticket is elected by [illegible] to 10,000. Of the 110 members of the legislature in both house the democrats have not elected [illegible] than 15. The prohibition and woman suffrage clauses of the constitution have been defeated. For state capital Olympia is largely ahead of all competitors, and may have a majority [illegible], although better judgment is that a later [illegible] will be necessary to decide it. All of the [illegible] towns—Seattle, Tacoma, Spokane Falls, [illegible], Port Townsend and Vancouver—voted [illegible] the constitution, and gave large republican majorities.

Spokane.

SPOKANE FALLS, Oct. 2.—The city complete is as follows: Total vote cast, 3148. For congress, Wilson 1841, Griffitts 128[illegible]; for governor, Ferry [illegible], Semple 1259; for lieutenant governor, [illegible] 1800, Platter 1198; for secretary of state, Weir [illegible], Whittlesey 978; for state treasurer, Lindsley [illegible], Kaufman 1009; for state auditor, T. M. Reed, [illegible], Murphy 1025; for attorney general, Jones [illegible], Sniveley 1023; for superintendent of public instruction, Bryan 1573, Morgan 1041; for land commissioner, Forrest 1259, Goodell 977; for judges of the supreme court, Hoyt 1775, Stiles [illegible], Scott 1865, Dunbar 1877, Anders [illegible], White 1250, Sharpstein 1289, Judson 1272, Reavis 1280; Ganahl [illegible]; for superior judge, Blake 914, Bell 509; for state senators, Reps., Hyde 1951, Watt 1769, Van Houten 1846, Dems., Burchell 1365, Bailey 1467, Hocker 1194.

In eleven precincts outside of Spokane the vote is as follows: Wilson 785, Griffitts [illegible]. On the various questions submitted the vote of Spokane together with the eleven precincts is as follows:

	For.	Against.
Constitution	2,[illegible]97	[illegible]78
Woman suffrage	957	1,[illegible]3
Prohibition	1,[illegible]	1,510

For the capital, North Yakima 1931, Ellensburgh 837 and Olympia 548.

CHENEY.

CHENEY, Oct. 2.—Cheney cast 255 votes. The party lines were strictly drawn, and very little scratching was done. The vote was as follows on heads of ticket, the balance varying only a few votes either way:

Wilson 162, Griffitts 93; Ferry 150, Semple 105. For the constitution 162, for prohibition 105, for woman suffrage 125, North Yakima 60, Olympia 80, Ellensburgh 109. The entire republican legislative ticket received a majority of almost 100, and is no doubt elected in the county by 500 majority.

At Stevens precinct, Spokane county, 71 votes were cast. Wilson 36, Griffitts 35; Ferry 35, Semple 36. For the constitution 37, against suffrage 40, against prohibition 31; Ellensburgh 35, North Yakima 25. The democratic legislative ticket received a very small majority.

ROCKFORD.

ROCKFORD, Wn., Oct. 2.—Total number of votes cast 357. For congress, Wilson 175, Griffitts 118, For governor, Ferry 179, Semple 137. Twenty precincts in Whitman county give Wilson 1549, Griffitts 1514, Ferry 1595, Semple 1463; republican senators 1535, democratic senators 1517; republican representatives 1578, democratic representatives 1489; for constitution 1563, against 1375; for capital, Olympia 1063, Ellensburgh 1214, North Yakima 631.

Thirteen out of the fifteen precincts to hear from gave Allen 207 majority in 1888. Late returns elect the entire republican ticket, except county clerk.

Walla Walla.

WALLA WALLA, Oct. 2.—Following are the county footings by precincts on the entire ticket. Two small precincts have not sent in official figures, but enough is known to justify the statement that the majorities will be slightly affected when they do arrive. Some precincts return no vote whatever on the capital, and some drop the vote on the suffrage amendment. Whitman, Rep., for county clerk, is elected on the returns by 75, but it is thought this will be cut down some. Yakima leads in the county by about 75. The candidates for superior judge will receive votes in Franklin county which have not been received yet, but from information received Upton is elected by about 50. Following are the totals: Wilson 1120, Griffitts 1163; Ferry 1417, Semple 1181; Laughton 1398, Platter 1162; Weir 1151, Whittlesey 1175; Lindsley 1416, Kaufman 1161, Reed 1123, Murphy 1165, Jones 1117, Snively 1172, Bryan 1281, Morgan 1395, Forrest 1410, Goodell 1170, Dunbar 1401, Stiles 1152, Hoyt 1284, Anders 1505, Scott 1256, Sharpstein 1402, White 1123, Reavis 1157, Judson 1157, Ganahl 1141, Upton 1516, Langford 1226; state senators, Thompson 1418, Preston 1528, Blalocks 1247, McDonald 111[illegible]; legislature

Painter 1453 Straight 1367, Cornwall 1322, Marion 1033, Roberts 1,00 Babcock 1 19 county clerk, Whitman 1,02 Gose 1 59 for the constitution 816 against 1?91 for woman suffrage 725 against 1481 for prohibition 741 against 1243 for the capital Olympia 776 North Yakima 800 Ellensburgh 763.

King

SEATTLE Oct 2.—Returns received from nearly every county in the state indicate the election of the republican state ticket by 8000 majority. Democrats reduce the republican majority in Seattle slightly. The new legislature will have seventy five republican majority on joint ballot. The constitution is ratified by a large majority and prohibition and woman suffrage defeated. It requires a majority of the vote to select a permanent capital. East of the Cascade mountains North Yakima is ahead and west of the range Olympia leads. Probably neither will have a majority and another election will be necessary. Yesterday's election insures two republican United States senators and one republican congressman.

SEATTLE, Oct 2.—Complete returns from nineteen out of thirty four precincts in King county give Wilson 12?9 votes against 1156 for Griffitts. These precincts in 1888 gave Allen a majority of 31. There is therefore a net republican gain in the county for Wilson of ...

In the city 2741 out of 4600 votes have been counted. Of these Wilson has 1?29 votes and Griffitts 1?22. Wilson's majority in the city is therefore, 40 so far as counted.

The eleven county precincts not heard from in 1888 gave Allen 339 and Voorhees 208 a majority for Allen of 131. If the republicans continue to gain in the city and county as they have on the latest returns they will have about 800 majority in the county and the entire republican ticket, superior judge county clerk and all will be elected. There is no doubt that the straight republican legislative ticket is elected. Ferry runs along with Wilson, and their majorities will be about the same. Stratton for superior judge is about 100 votes behind Lichtenberg, Dem., and Holmes for county clerk is six votes behind Young, Dem. The remaining precincts will no doubt overrun Young's majority and likely Lichtenberg's.

Returns in six of the Seattle precincts are fully counted and the remaining two will not be finished before to-morrow. The democrats made such gains in the city in the first part of the count last night that they became very jubilant and claimed the whole ticket. They will be content now if they get one member of the legislature and the superior judge.

LATEST RETURNS

SEATTLE Wn. Oct 2.—With thirteen small precincts to hear from, out of a total of forty four, Wilson's majority in the county is 600. The precincts yet to come in in 1888 gave Allen a majority of 119 and it may be expected that this figure will be increased in the present election to 800. Ferry's majority will be perhaps fifty votes short of this. The entire republican legislative ticket is elected by a majority ranging from 300 to 800. Holmes is elected county clerk, and Stratton for superior judge is pretty certainly defeated. The Seattle count is yet unfinished and cannot be completed until to-morrow.

Kitsap

Five precincts in Kitsap county give Wilson 449 Griffitts 15. Drew for representative, whose defeat the democrats claimed will be elected. Kneeland for joint senator of the Twentieth district has a heavy majority over Shelton and has doubtless carried the county. The state ticket generally has the same vote as Wilson and Griffitts, with heavy majorities for the constitution and against prohibition and woman suffrage. Olympia is in the lead for the capital. No further figures are now obtainable.

ISLAND COUNTY

UTSALADY Oct 2.—Four precincts in Island county gave Wilson 164, Griffitts 97 Ferry 164 Semple 97. For the constitution 137, against the constitution 19. For suffrage 65, against 160. For prohibition 34, against 130. For the capital, Olympia 210 Ellensburgh 2, Yakima 4.

TELEGRAPH WIRES DOWN

Not a word has been heard from Whatcom, Skagit nor Snohomish counties the telegraph lines being down. Word has been received from Snohomish however, that the republican ticket is safe. Whatcom county will give 500 republican majority and Skagit county is expected to give 400 republican majority.

PORT MADISON

PORT MADISON Oct 2.—Total number of votes cast, 92. For congress Wilson 62, Griffitts 30 for governor, Ferry 60, Semple 30 state senator republican W H Kneeland 62, democrat, David Shelton 39 representative republican M S Drew 44 democrat C L Morrill 46, for constitution 76 against constitution 15 for capital Seattle 3, Olympia 68 Ellensburgh 8 North Yakima 7, Centralia 1 for prohibition 23, against 55 for woman suffrage 13, against 67.

Columbia.

DAYTON Oct 2.—The election passed off without disturbance. A heavy vote was cast throughout the county notwithstanding the dampness of the weather. Columbia county's official vote is as follows Wilson 671 Griffitts 648 Ferry 666 Semple 648 Laughton 66 Platter 64 Weir 667, Whittlesey 647 Lindsay 667 Kauffman 648 Reed 665, Murphy 644 Jones 670, Snively 647 Bryan 662, Morgan 662 Forrest 671 Goodell 648 Dunbar 671 Stiles 652, Hoyt 674, Anders 65? Scott 609 Reavis 649 White 646, Sharpstein 653, Judson 647 Ganahl 654. For superior judge for Columbia, Asotin and Garfield counties Sturdevant Rep. 652 Godman, Dem 652. For state senator Wolf Rep., 686 Van Patten, Dem 607. For representatives, Day, Rep. 684 Fields Rep 642; Weatherford, Dem., 664. For Olympia 257 Yakima 476, Ellensburgh 462 for constitution 468, against constitution 730 for prohibition 484, against prohibition 745 for woman suffrage 442, against woman suffrage 816.

Returns from Garfield and Asotin counties assure Sturdevant's election by fifty to sixty majority in the district. The democrats are very much surprised at the outcome and are consequently disappointed. The republicans are jubilant. A torch light procession, headed by a brass band, is now parading the streets.

Pierce.

TACOMA Oct 2.—There is still one voting precinct in the city to be heard from the first precinct of the Fourth ward, which will give about seventy democratic majority and one county precinct Lake Tapps, about seventeen democratic majority. The total majority of the head of the republican ticket, John L. Wilson, is about 52? and Governor Ferry has about thirty votes less than Wilson.

The republican ticket is elected with the exception of Applegate, the candidate for superior judge, who has been defeated by Judge Allyn by about 170 votes. Lillis, state senator, is behind Henry Drum by about the same majority. Knox and Cochrane are defeated by Meade and Judson as representatives, the former sure, the latter still somewhat in doubt. Protests will be filed against the votes in both precincts of the Fourth ward, where crooked work is charged more especially in the second precinct.

The total vote in the county is a little over 6700.

A SPEECH BY BLAINE.

Welcoming the Delegates to the American Congress.

POSSIBILITIES OF THE FUTURE

A Pleasant Reception Followed by a Banquet in the Evening—The Southrons Accept the Proposed Grand Tour

WASHINGTON Oct 2.—Delegates to the international congress assembled at the state department at noon and proceeded in a body to the diplomatic reception rooms and were presented to Blaine who delivered a felicitous address of welcome as follows:

Gentlemen of the International American Conference: Speaking for the government of the United States I bid you welcome to this capital. Speaking for the people of the United States I bid you welcome to every section and to every state in the Union. You come in response to an invitation extended by the president, on special authorization of congress. Your presence here is no ordinary event. It signifies much to the people of all America to-day. It may signify far more in days to come. No conference of nations ever assembled to consider the welfare of territorial possessions so vast and to contemplate the possibilities of a future so great and so inspiring. Those now sitting within these walls are empowered to speak for nations whose borders are on both great oceans, whose northern limits are touched by Arctic waters for thousands of miles beyond the straits of Behring, whose southern extension furnishes human habitations further below the equator than is elsewhere possible on the globe.

"While considerations of this character must inspire Americans both South and North with the liveliest anticipations of future grandeur and power they must also impress them with a sense of the gravest responsibility touching the character and development of their respective nationalities. The delegates whom I am addressing can do much to establish permanent relations of confidence, respect and friendship between the nations which they represent. They can show to the world an honorable, peaceful conference of seventeen independent American powers in which all shall meet together on terms of absolute equality—a conference in which there can be no attempt to coerce a single delegate against his own conception of the interests of his nation, a conference which will permit no secret understanding on any subject but will frankly publish to the world all its conclusions, a conference which will tolerate no spirit of conquest but will aim to cultivate American sympathy broad as both continents, a conference which will form no selfish alliance against older nations from which we are proud to claim an inheritance, a conference in fine which will seek nothing, propose nothing, endure nothing that is not in the general sense of all the delegates timely and wise and peaceful.

And yet we cannot be expected to forget that our common fate has made the inhabitants of two continents which at the close of four centuries are still regarded beyond the seas as the New World. Like situations beget like sympathies and impose like duties. We meet in the firm belief that the nations of America ought to and can be more helpful each to the other than they now are and that each will find advantage and profit from an enlarged intercourse with the others. We believe we should be drawn together more closely by the highways of the sea and that at no distant day the railway systems of the North and the South will meet upon the Isthmus and connect by land routes the political and commercial capitals of all America. We believe that hearty co-operation based on confidence will save all of the American states from the burdens and evils which have long and cruelly afflicted the older nations of the world. We believe that a spirit of justice and of common and equal interest between the American states will leave no room for an artificial balance of power like unto that which led to the wars abroad and drenched Europe in blood. We believe that friendship avowed with candor and maintained with good faith will remove from the American states the necessity of guarding their boundary lines between themselves with fortifications and military forces. We believe that standing armies beyond those which are needful for public order and the safety of internal administration, should be unknown on both of the American continents. We believe that friendship and not force, the spirit of just laws and not the violence of mobs should be the recognized rule of administration between the American nations and in the American nations.

To these subjects and to those which are cognate thereto the attention of this conference is earnestly and cordially invited by the government of the United States. It will be a great gain when we shall acquire that common confidence on which all international friendship must rest. It will be a greater gain when we shall be able to draw the people of all the American nations into closer acquaintance with each other, an end to be facilitated by more frequent and more rapid intercommunication. It will be the greatest gain when the personal and commercial relations of the American states South and North, shall be so developed and so regulated that each shall acquire the highest possible advantage from the enlightened and enlarged intercourse of all.

Before the conference shall formally enter upon the discussion of the subjects to be submitted to it I am instructed by the president to invite all of the delegates to be the guests of the government during a proposed visit to various sections of the country with a double view of showing to our friends from abroad the condition of the United States and of giving to our people, in their homes the privilege and pleasure of extending the warm hospitality of Americans to Americans.

The address was received with an amount of enthusiasm somewhat remarkable in a body of this character.

On motion of one of the South American delegates the following resolution was adopted:

That the members of the international American congress accept with pleasure the invitation of the president of the United States of America to be the guests of his government on an excursion through the territory of the United States, and that we express our thanks for said invitation.

A number of committees were appointed and the congress adjourned until Monday, November 18.

Blaine then escorted the members to the White house. The president gave a special reception to the delegates at 1:30 one of the features of which was an informal lunch served in the state dining room at 2. The reception took place in the blue parlor. The members were presented by Blaine first to Harrison then to Mrs Harrison and then to the members of the cabinet. After a social interchange the party repaired to the living room and partook of the lunch. The centerpiece of the table was a large floral representation of the Western hemisphere. South American dishes and South American cigarettes were served and everything done to show honor to the different countries represented. A few of the delegates were in full court costume but the majority wore plain civilian dress. The reception lasted for two hours and was altogether informal.

Secretary Blaine gave a banquet to the delegates at the Hotel Normandie to-night. It was a most brilliant gathering.

THE ANTI MAHONE CONFERENCE.

Resolutions Adopted Declaring the Necessity of His Defeat at the Polls

RICHMOND Va., Oct 2.—The anti Mahone conference to-day adopted a lengthy report declaring that Mahone has deceived the republican national committee by false pretenses that his plan of organization was hateful and tyrannical that he had driven from councils of the party the ablest men in it, that he has forfeited the right to the confidence of the people of Virginia and that his defeat was essential to the salvation of the republican party. The conference recommend no particular course to be pursued by the voters on election day, except that each shall use his own individual judgment.

SHOOTING AT A PRAYER MEETING

A Man Instantly Killed and His Daughter Fatally Wounded by an Unknown Person.

ROSS POINT Miss. Oct 2.—To-night while a prayer meeting was being conducted at the Presbyterian church here some one fired a load of buckshot through the front door of the building, instantly killing Dan McInnis, mortally wounding his daughter Nellie and seriously wounding Henry Blumer. There is no clue to the perpetrator. The community is terribly excited.

DUE TO AN ELECTRIC CAR LINE.

Natural Gas Ignited, and Three Workmen Terribly Burned.

DAYTON, O., Oct. 2.—Workmen had tapped the natural gas main in the street to-night for repairs when the escaping gas was ignited by a spark from a passing car on the electric road. The trench was immediately filled with flames and three workmen were terribly burned.

THE CONFESSION OF FAITH.

Dr. McCosh Declares That Foreordination Must Go Overboard.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct 2.—At a meeting of the Presbytery yesterday Rev Dr McCosh ex-president of Princeton, spoke strongly in favor of a revision of the confession of faith. He particularly pointed out the doctrine of foreordination as not taught by the Scriptures.

Wool Manufacturers' Convention.

NEW YORK, Oct 2.—The twenty fifth annual meeting of the National Association of Wool Manufacturers was held this morning in executive session. A resolution with regard to the tariff on wool is supposed to be the principal work before the meeting.

At 1:30 P. M. the doors were thrown open and the wool manufacturers announced that they had adjourned. Resolutions were adopted the same as those reported by the special committee at Boston on September 17.

A Regatta at Louisville

LOUISVILLE Oct 2.—The first professional regatta ever held here occurred to-day, single sculls, mile straight away, between Hamm and Hanlon. It was won by Hanlon in 5:30. In the three mile race Hanlon withdrew, and Hosmer, Teemer and McKay failed to appear. Gaudaur, Hamm and Ten Eyck started. Gaudaur won in 21:10.

THAT CHINESE INDEMNITY.

The Consul General Getting in Rather Warm Quarters

SAN FRANCISCO Oct 2.—Leading Chinese merchants here declare that the troubles of Hung Ting Tsang Chinese consul general here have just begun. The Chinese of Portland Seattle and San Francisco who had claims against the United States government, and who alleged that they have been swindled and robbed by the consul general have formed a powerful association in this city which is being supported by hundreds of Chinese merchants antagonistic to the consul general. Posters and printed circulars are now being issued at frequent intervals in the interest of the organized claimant and these are being posted in all parts of the Chinese quarters. The latest circular takes up the case of each claimant tells of the manner in which he approached the consul general how he was received and also gives the excuse made by Tsang in not settling the claims. It tells how the claimant is informed by Tsang that his particular claim has already been paid to some Celestial who is now in China. Friends of the consul are then called upon by Tsang to send a cable message to a man in China notifying him that the consul general is using his name in a false connection for a diplomatic purpose and asking the man in China to aid in the scheme.

ARRIVAL OF THE BILLINGS.

A Terrific Storm Encountered With Serious Results

SAN FRANCISCO Oct. 2.—The American ship Frederick Billings the largest vessel afloat flying the stars and stripes arrived in port late last night after a stormy voyage of 140 days from New York. August 2 a violent gale struck the ship and a heavy sea boarded her breaking fifteen feet of the after part of the forward house, splitting the main sail cleaning out the galley carpenter shop and engine room and deluging the decks.

The Billings has been lying off the Farallones in a thick fog for the last three days. Felix Ivan Volkpalatinsk, a Russian count was a passenger on the Billings. The count was compelled to flee from Russia several years ago, but was subsequently pardoned by the czar.

SEIZED FUR SEALERS

A Decision Having an Important Bearing on All Such Cases

SAN FRANCISCO Oct 2.—Judge Sabin in the circuit court to-day, rendered a decision in the case of L. N. Handy & Co against Barton Atkins and others in favor of Atkins. In September, 1887 the schooner San Diego was seized by the revenue cutter Corwin in Behring sea for killing fur seals, and was ordered to Sitka where she and her cargo of 5?7 sealskins were condemned by the court. Barton Atkins, marshal of Alaska brought the skins to San Francisco and placed them in the hands of Davis, Hober & Co auctioneers, for sale. Handy & Co. enjoined the sale on the ground of lack of jurisdiction, claiming that the authority of the Alaskan court did not hold here. They demanded a restitution of the skins which they valued at $2000. Judge Sawyer overthrew their plea, giving judgment to Atkins.

It is understood that the principle of this decision covers those seizures which have taken place in Behring sea at any time. It applies to the schooners San Jose and Ellen, which were seized in Behring sea last year and ordered to Sitka but went to Drake's bay and afterward came to this harbor. It also applies to those schooners which have run away with their prize crews, as it establishes that the orders of revenue officers when sustained by the courts, hold good everywhere in American waters.

WRECK OF THE ARCTIC.

Views of the President of the Alaska Commercial Company.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 2.—Louis Sloss president of the Alaska Commercial Company speaking of the news from Seattle last night of the loss of the company's steamer Arctic said that all the supplies would not be lost as some could be saved. Sloss further said the Arctic was a small steamer of 200 tons and cost only $20 000 instead of the $55 000 reported. He thought there was no danger of the 300 miners who are wintering on Forty Mile creek starving as supplies would be sent them from Alaska.

THE ARCTIC FLOATED

SAN FRANCISCO Oct 2.—Louis Sloss, of the Alaska Commercial Company is in receipt of a letter from his agent at St. Michael, who writes that the steamer Arctic had been floated and brought back while many of the stores were saved. The steamer Explorer will be sent up with two boats in tow with such goods as can be got together and on arrival of the Yukon, which was then coming down the river she will be sent back with a part of the Alaska stores. Mining has been poor on account of the floods and many are expected to come on the Yukon. About seventy five will winter there, and it is thought they will be able to get stores from the Yukon when she returns.

SEATTLE NEWS ITEMS

The Portland Forger—A Dangerous Street —Etc

SEATTLE Wn. Oct 2.—George Anderson the Portland forger, who was arrested at the theater Monday night is in custody here. He is awaiting a hearing of the third writ of habeas corpus sued out by his attorneys. The first was successful, but Anderson was recommitted on the charge of being a fugitive from justice. Then he tried a second writ, which was denied. To-day he bobbed up serenely with a third, but it was continued by Judge Hanford till Friday.

The dying body of an unknown man was found under a trestle of the bridge at Jackson street, near South Third at 7 o'clock this morning. The man was badly bruised and when removed to Providence hospital expired. It is supposed that he walked off the trestle during the night, falling about thirty feet. This is the twelfth serious accident that has happened on Jackson street in the same manner within a month.

McKee scrip was to-day filed by George W. Trimble on the water front of Seattle extending half a mile from Stetson & Post's mill, and including the most valuable wharfage property of the city. It was for 160 acres and is expected to share the same fate as the filings of Valentine scrip. McKee scrip was issued by congress to the widow of McKee, a soldier in the company of Henry Clay, and killed while performing some meritorious action. There is a very limited quantity the scrip, and in fact all has now been utilized except forty acres. This may turn up here later. To-day's filing is not regarded as more significant than others that have been heretofore made.

NOT A WORD ABOUT THE ELECTIONS

Grover Cleveland's Influence Waning in His Own State—The New York Committeemen Are Not His Friends

WORCESTER Mass., Oct 2.—The democratic state convention was called to order this forenoon. The usual committees were appointed. Hon. W. E. Russell, of Cambridge was nominated for governor.

The platform as adopted endorses the general principles of democracy and the platform of the last democratic national convention. It commends tariff reform and the democratic support of tariff reform ... ultimate triumph is predicted, demands free raw materials and lower duties on necessities and continues. We believe free wool as provided for in the bill passed by the democratic majority of the last house of representatives, is essential to the prosperity of the woolen industry upon which that of the wool grower is dependent, which it will afford relief to all consumers of woolen goods. It declares free coal and iron ore and lower duties on pig iron are the only salvation for the iron industry of New England. It demands that all materials for ship building be made free of duty for the benefit of ship builders, favors a continuance of Whitney's naval policy, favors in part or entire reciprocity of trade between the United States and Canada, closer commercial relations with Mexico, and condemns the arbitrary action of the treasury department in respect to importation of Mexican ores which has already led to retaliatory measures against important American interests in Mexico, denounces election frauds, opposes the scheme for national election laws.

We condemn the present administration for its narrow partisanship, low standard of public duty, standing in conspicuous contrast to the character of the recent democratic administration under President Cleveland. We condemn it for its surrender to the dictation of unscrupulous political bosses such as Mahone, Quay and Platt, for its utter betrayal of the cause of civil service reform for its perversion of the pension machinery for the distribution of the national bounty into a means of influencing votes, for its sale of high political offices for contributions of large sums of money by which it was placed in power and for its shameless nepotism, clearly indicative of a conception of public office, not as a public trust, but as a private perquisite.

Pension legislation for the benefit of invalid soldiers and sailors who fought for their country should be just and liberal. It should be administered in a spirit of fairness and equity, and in accordance with the laws of congress but not in the interest of greedy claim agents nor with the object of emptying the treasury. We condemn the ruling by which this administration, in reversal of former decisions has thrown open the pension list to persons dishonorably discharged, as an outrage on common sense, a degradation of what should be a role of honor, and an insult to every true soldier.

Upon the liquor question it says: "We believe that the present policy of the state in making the sale of liquor a matter of local option to be decided by the vote of the people of each city and town works satisfactorily and should be maintained."

The ticket was completed as follows: Lieutenant governor John W. Corcoran, of Clinton. secretary of state William M. Osgood, of Boston. treasurer and receiver General E. B. Munn, of Holyoke. auditor D. T. Trefry of Marblehead. attorney general Elisha B. Maynard, of Springfield.

CLEVELAND'S STAR DECLINING

He Has Few Friends on the New York Democratic Committee.

NEW YORK Oct 2.—The Sun this morning prints the following dispatch from [illegible]. The almost complete overthrow of Cleveland friends on the democratic state committee has even more significance than appears on the face of the matter. Cleveland men ... are trying to make light of the catastrophe. Some are saying that Cleveland's friends are playing a deep game, that they mean to let Governor Hill construct the convention ticket and committees all his own way and be responsible therefor on the principle of the old adage that if you give a suicide enough rope he will hang himself. Others are saying that as Cleveland is not interested in this year's campaign, he and his friends have laid back and taken a rest without caring or needing to care, what Hill has been doing.

All this is wide of the truth. The Cleveland men have been fairly beaten at the end of a hard fight and they are even to-day inclined to die very hard. No one can talk with any one of these dethroned district chieftains without being made aware by their own manner and confessions how keenly they have been hurt in the crash of timber of the falling Cleveland edifice.

THE CATHOLIC HIERARCHY.

A Letter by Cardinal Gibbons on the Celebration of its Establishment.

BALTIMORE, Oct 2.—Cardinal Gibbons has prepared a long pastoral letter on the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the establishment of the Catholic hierarchy in the United States.

He dwells on the growth of the country and the Catholic religion. There is now embraced within the United States a Catholic population of about 9 000 000. There are 10,500 churches and chapels, twenty seven seminaries exclusively devoted to training candidates for the ministry 650 colleges and academies for the higher education of the young of both sexes 3100 parish schools and 520 hospitals and orphan asylums.

The church says the cardinal, "exhibits vigorous activity and sturdy growth which afford a well founded hope of unlimited expansion in the future."

THE CAMPECHE CYCLONE.

Trees Uptorned, Houses Crushed, Vessels Wrecked and Many Lives Lost.

ST LOUIS, Oct 2.—Dispatches from the City of Mexico say that the cyclone which swept the coast of Campeche last month was so strong in the city of Carmen that trees were pulled up by the roots and thrown upon the houses, which they crushed like egg shells.

Vessel after vessel was driven ashore among them twelve foreign barges. Some of them are high and dry on the beach and others partially submerged and still others with their masts sticking out of the water.

The number of lives lost is unknown.

A QUAKER'S DOZEN.

Richard Stege the well known proprietor of the Quaker Dairy, No 30 Ellis St., San Francisco, last week sent the following letter to the Edwin W. Joy Co.

"My family have been taking Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla now for months with splendid results. Our experience has been that after taking it regularly for a short time and getting the system started right, an occasional dose thereafter keeps the system in perfect condition. A peculiarity of your vegetable compound inexplicable to me is, that it does not lose its effect but seems to accomplish the same result continually. As a liver and bowel regulator and corrective it is perfection. We would not be without it in our house. In fact I have just bought a dozen bottles to get the reduced price."

A. M. Rowe, of 523 Jones street S. F., also writes that it has been his habit for years to awake in the mornings with a headache and an exhausted feeling but since the first bottle he has had no return of his old time debilitating headaches.

Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla.

One pint of the pure juices of vegetable alteratives indigenous to California, combining the most effective liver and kidney remedy, blood purifier, stomach regulator and vegetable laxative in existence.

THE UPPER SANTIAM COUNTRY.

[illegible] Springing Up—Prosperous Farms—Timber Land Stealing—Railroad Building

Capital Journal

The upper Santiam country in Marion and Linn is putting on considerable [illegible] the march of progress has [illegible] from the near approach [illegible] a couple of years [illegible] a region of prosperous farms and [illegible] the town [illegible] the line. This [illegible] the building of a [illegible] railroad which has made [illegible] the timber products [illegible] stimulated the raising [illegible] products of the farm for [illegible] and convenient market [illegible]

[illegible] down the river the first town [illegible] is Gatesville about [illegible] above Mehama at which point [illegible] bridge crosses the river for the convenience of the thrifty settlers of King's [illegible] strip of country nestling [illegible] mountains in Linn county. This [illegible] country to which so many people repair for healthful air and fine [illegible] every summer. By the way Captain W W Martin the jeweler owns a beautiful [illegible] Hennes brothers are comfortably [illegible] here at the head of present wagon [illegible] and provide a comfortable, well [illegible] stopping place for travelers [illegible] large band of cayuses that [illegible] mountain with the agility of a [illegible]

[illegible]ville is a railroad station with a [illegible] arriving there from Albany at [illegible] at 1 o'clock. Here are two hotels one of which is run by Mrs [illegible] does a good business. Here is to be found that popular and reliable pioneer, John A Smith who, with his partner Professor J J McClary, well known as an educator and business man of ability has just built a fine new store building and is now [illegible] upon its shelves an $8000 stock of general merchandise embracing everything needed in any community, and the people of the surrounding country are highly pleased at the opportunity afforded to trade at home with more than city advantages.

The next town this way is Mill City at the railroad crossing of the Santiam where one of the best equipped sawmills in the state is kept working to its full capacity all the time with large orders constantly ahead. The company owning this mill have secured some 5000 acres of the choice timber land of that county with road privileges thereto and hence fairly have a prosperous future ahead. Quite a bustling town has been built up around it with all branches of business flourishing.

On the other side of the river almost opposite Mehama is the railroad station [illegible] which has built up very rapidly and has become already an important shipping point.

Mehama maintains its supremacy as the best hotel town on the coast, Mrs Smith being still queen of hostesses. The town will always be a pleasant place to stop or go to on business; its merchants being wide awake and agreeable, and carrying good stocks. The railroad will make little, if any difference with them.

Stayton is building up somewhat this year and its people feel justly elated over their new bridge, which is rapidly nearing completion. The false work was taken away from the main span Saturday, and the structure is handsome as well as durable.

The actual settlers along the Upper Santiam have had their indignation aroused to the kicking point by a system of timber land stealing which has been going on there this season. Heavy lumbering syndicates from Puget sound have been sending in stool pigeons by the score, gobbling up the best bodies of timber, so that in another year of such work there would not be an acre worth taking left for the actual settler. Men who have business interests through there have taken measures to put a stop to this and they should be ably and honestly seconded by the officers of the government. The law was made for the actual settler, and not that non-resident monopolists and rich syndicates might steal the public domain, but in this as in many other cases the law has been basely prostituted.

The Oregon Pacific Railroad is moving slowly with the work of construction but there is no doubt of its completion to Eastern connection some time. They have about eleven miles of steel on hand which will be laid this season. The track is now laid to Sardine creek six miles above Gatesville. The people along the road sigh for the time when work will progress with regularity and rapidity.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST.

OREGON.

Miss Esther J Rose, aged 16, carries the mail daily between Airlie and Lewisville.

The new bridge across Silvercreek in Lake county is to cost $2700 and will be completed by December 15. It will be 215 long.

The Oregon Construction Company Huntington Or are building a barn eight feet long for freighters and their customers, free of charge.

The new school building at Brownsville will be dedicated Saturday. State Superintendent McElroy will be present and deliver an address.

William Harper deputy United States marshal for Eastern Oregon, who is slightly known in this valley, has been appointed chief of police of Baker City.

There have been about 350 buildings erected in Eugene during the summer. Many new streets have been graded, and signs of rapid growth are everywhere seen.

A large amount of wheat is awaiting shipment in the warehouses along the Upper Willamette above Salem. A little more rain and boats will again be running as far up as Albany.

Heppner has taken hold of the artesian well boring project in proper shape. The city council appropriated $1500 for a well 500 feet deep, besides paying freight on the machinery from the East. The well will be sunk at once.

Twenty thousand pounds of onions from three-quarters of an acre is the present season's yield reported by W T Patton, living near Grant's Pass. This means a market value of about $400 for the crop, a pretty good income from low priced lands.

The Oregon City Enterprise says: While people in the neighborhood of Gresham were engaged in fighting forest fires, an aged man by the name of Rugg was killed. The smoke was very dense, and prevented him from seeing a falling tree which struck and crushed him.

The railroad accident at Turner last Saturday caused the death of just ninety and nine sheep, and there was another one pretty badly hurt. There were 1500 in the band and they were owned by Levi West of Albany who had just brought them over the mountains to fatten for the Portland market.

Dr DePuy of Linkville this season demonstrated beyond a doubt that peaches of rare excellence can be produced in Klamath county; a small tree in his garden having borne this year 225 pounds of delicious fruit equal to the Rogue river valley product. At the market price the tree bore $13 50 worth of fruit.

The hop-yards of Josephine county, aggregating about seventy five acres, this year turn out nearly forty tons of cured hops, the crop being cut short some six tons by the frost of ten days ago. There were about 300 pickers employed during the two or three weeks that the season lasted. Women and children from every part of the valley participated in the [illegible].

The stock inspector of Lake county reports 250,000 sheep in the county, while the assessor returns but 150,000. Lakeview's school assessment shows that but two sheep men pay taxes in that precinct.

THE SECRET OF LIFE.

Sound Counsel for Those in Middle Life and Those on the Down Grade.

Bacon says: "Discern of the coming on of years and think not to do the same thing still, for age will not be defied." Half the secret of life we are permitted to know when we are grown old, and it is the half most hardly learned. It is more hardly learned, moreover in the matter of exercises than in the matter of diet. There is no advice so commonly given to the man or woman of middle age as the advice to take more exercise and there is perhaps none which leads him into so many pitfalls. This is particularly the case with the brain workers. The man who labors his brain must spare his body. He cannot burn the candle at both ends and the attempt to do so will almost inevitably result in his lighting it in the middle too, the waste of tissue will be so great that he will be tempted to repair it by the use of a too generous diet. Most men who use their brain much soon learn for themselves that the sense of physical exaltation, the glow of exuberant health which comes from a body strung to its full powers by continuous and severe exercise is not favorable to study. The exercise such men need is exercise that rests, not that which tires. They need to wash their brains with the fresh air of heaven, to bring into gentle play the muscles which have been lying idle while the head worked. Nor is it only to this class of laboring humanity that the advice to take exercise needs reservations. The time of violent delights soon passes and the effort to protract it beyond its natural span is as dangerous as it is ridiculous. Some men, through nature or the accident of fortune will of course be able to keep touch of it longer than others, but when once the touch has been lost the struggle to regain it can add but sorrow to the labor. Of this our doctor makes a cardinal point; but pertinent as his warning may be to the old, for whom, indeed he has primarily compounded his elixir vitæ, it is yet more pertinent to men of middle age and probably it is more necessary. It is in the latter period that most of the mischief is done. The old are commonly resigned to their lot but few men will consent without a struggle to own that they are no longer young.—McMillan's Magazine

A Quietus for the Race Conflict Spook.

Memphis Avalanche (Dem.)

The versatile editor of the Atlanta Constitution evidently sees spooks. In an article entitled "The Crisis of the Hour and Its Needs" Mr Grady says: "It cannot be denied that there is at present a more uneasy feeling in the South between the whites and blacks than has been known in twenty years." It is certainly a statement not justified by the facts to declare that an uneasy feeling exists in the South because of these occasional outbreaks in widely separated parts of the country, where the bad blood of a neighborhood breaks out in open violence, or some worthless cutthroat kills a negro in a personal broil. Memphis is the center of a far more densely African population than Atlanta, and less than seventy five miles from the scene of the Shell Mound riot. But there is no uneasy feeling among the whites and blacks here. We heartily agree with the Constitution that it is the duty of the whites "to protect the negro in his rights, to give him justice and friendship and counsel, to punish those who wrong him." But not "to quiet with strong hand the storm which threatens," for none threatens. The immediate relations of the 6 000 000 blacks and the 18,000 000 whites who inhabit the South, the former plain untutored laborers, without arms and without the means all told to equip a single battalion, the latter with unbounded resources, and by actual demonstration the most determined and warlike race on the globe, and all now quietly engaged in peaceful and remunerative labors, do not indicate the approach of any storm or conflict. The negroes desire no race conflict and the whites will permit none.

The Civil Service Reform League

PHILADELPHIA, Oct 2—The National Civil Service Reform League met this morning. George William Curtis was re-elected president. Resolutions framed on the lines laid down in Curtis's speech of last night touching President Harrison in his relations to civil service were passed.

Sherman S Rogers read a long series of resolutions, which were adopted, dealing with the treatment civil service reform was receiving. The resolutions stated that the execution of the law was seriously endangered by the appointment as heads of offices of men not in sympathy with the law or its purposes. The resolutions condemn the president for having abdicated his power of appointment by placing the appointments at the disposal of partisan leaders, thus enabling them to debauch their constituencies and control the elections. The record of the administration with regard to the railway mail service was severely condemned and resolutions find that the pledge of the president, that fitness and not party service should be the sole discriminating test of appointment, is disregarded.

Resolutions introduced by Everett P Wheeler were adopted advocating the appointment of a special agent at Washington and of a missionary to go about the country with the object of establishing associations and thereby disseminating the principles of civil service reform. The next meeting will be held at Buffalo.

PORTLAND, THURSDAY, OCT. 3.

THE NEW STATES.

The elections on Tuesday have resulted in a substantial and far reaching Republican triumph. The figures for the Fifty-first congress were 165 republicans to 159 democrats. We have elected the congressmen in Washington, and in the Dakotas, and if Carter should prove to be elected in Montana the figures for the Fifty-first congress would stand 171 republicans and 159 democrats. If the democrats have elected the congressman in Montana congress will stand 170 republicans to 160 democrats.

The victory's substantial results are represented by a net gain of four congressmen, if we have lost Montana and of five if we have carried it. The legislatures elected are republican in Washington and the Dakotas, while that of Montana is in doubt. This means that the present figures for the United States senate, 39 republicans against 37 democrats are increased to 45 republicans against 39 democrats, assuming that Montana's legislature is democratic, or to 47 republicans against 37 democrats if Montana is republican on the joint ballot for United States senators.

But the far-reaching consequence of these elections is that they probably forecast the political attitude of Washington and the Dakotas for many years to come. Montana is so close that its political future cannot be determined. With the exception of 1871, when Claggett, republican, beat Toole for delegate to congress by 413 votes, and in 1888 when Carter was elected to congress by 5126, Montana has been democratic, Martin McGinnis being elected to the Forty-third, Forty-fourth, Forty-fifth, Forty-sixth, Forty-seventh and Forty-eighth congresses. Toole, democrat, was elected to the Forty-ninth congress, and re-elected to the Fiftieth congress in 1886 by 3718 plurality. The republican victory in Montana in 1888, was due to the fact that the people were disgusted with their exclusion from the Union by the democratic congress. With the extinction of this cause of dissatisfaction the democratic leaders made a desperate effort to restore their broken lines and have met with considerable success, although their majority, assuming that they have won, is a way below the figures of 1886 when Toole was sent to congress. Montana was organized as a territory May 24, 1864. It received a considerable immigration, after the war, of ex-Confederates, which fact goes far to explain its sturdy adhesion to the democracy up to the election of 1888.

Of far more lasting consequence than the question whether these new states are democratic or republican is the fact that they will all become states under constitutions that on the whole may be truthfully described as of unusual excellence. The errors of Eastern fundamental acts have not been incorporated into the constitutions of these new states, and in the main they have been draughted with a large and liberal hand in the spirit of social and political equity and justice. The action of their constitutional conventions in the matter of taxation, public schools, prohibition and woman suffrage was at once conservative and fair to all factions. Washington territory, with whose affairs Oregon is most intimately associated, and in whose public policy for the future she is most deeply interested, has as good a constitution as any state ever had or is likely to get. The attempt of the democracy to defeat this constitution on the demagogue plea of "large salaries" for the judiciary has been beaten; prohibition is defeated and woman suffrage received a comparatively light support. Washington starts off under most favorable auspices. From 1792 up to January 1861 when Kansas was admitted every new state admitted to the Union has been organized and admitted under democratic auspices; that is the first state governor and first United States senators, have been democrats, an indication that the people organizing new states were captured at first by the fustian and demagogy that has always characterized the democratic party since the admission of Kentucky in 1792 to the present hour. Ohio, Indiana, Illinois Maine, Michigan, Iowa, Wisconsin, California, Minnesota and Oregon, all republican states to-day, were organized and joined the Union as democratic states.

Washington has reason to congratulate herself that she starts right; with a republican state government; with a republican delegation to both houses of congress. The difference is important; it is the difference between childhood led and instructed by an intelligent teacher, or by a drunken, depraved pedagogue, between childhood taught religion by an intelligent and liberal-minded evangelist and childhood educated in superstition, ignorance and bigotry by a hedge priest; the difference between following Christ or Torquemada; between imitating Fenelon or Friar Tuck.

The latest advices are that the republicans have carried the legislature and elected their congressman in Montana.

PROTECTED SHIPPING.

The democratic ship owners and ship builders of New England, who supported Cleveland and free wool last November, are now yelling for protection to our shipping interests. One of them, Arthur Sewall, of Maine, writes the Independent as follows:

> The aid that American shipping needs is but temporary; but such aid must be generous and immediate. It must come from the government, and, if it is to be given, should be given openly and directly—call it protection, subsidy, bounty, as you will.
>
> I favor the payment by the national government to the builders of American ships exceeding 2000 tons register and used in the foreign trade, $10 per ton for wooden sail, $20 per ton for steel or iron sail and slow steam, $25 per ton for steel or iron steam with speed not less than fourteen knots, for a period of ten years. To the owners of these vessels I favor a further payment of 20 cents per registered ton for every 1000 miles sailed in the course of foreign trade—this payment to be for the same period.
> And at the end of this time we shall have built up a merchant marine that will compare favorably with that of any other country in the world. We shall have established permanent plants and facilities which will enable us to maintain, renew, and increase it. We shall have obtained a fair share of the carrying trade of the world, of which, once obtained, we can never again be deprived.

Here we have an outspoken demand for protection of American industry, in shape of our shipping, from a democrat who, as a member of the democratic national committee in November, 1888, howled himself hoarse for Cleveland and "free wool."

Reports of the excellent management of the penitentiary by Superintendent Downing are gratifying. Wise discipline, cleanliness and industry are among the things placed to the credit of Mr. Downing in connection with his administration of the affairs of that institution, three things to which a large majority of convicts are total strangers when given into his charge. It is a pity that the opportunity to acquire the virtues that result from these came too late in life to these convicts to be of permanent benefit to them.

Every additional fact, revealed by the fifty workingmen sent abroad to investigate the condition of foreign trades and craftsmen, adds evidence that in no other country but the United States is the wage-earner so well paid, better conditioned or endowed with higher privileges. The leader of the group, Mr. Thompson, said: "Almost every trade was represented in our party, and they examined carefully the products and machinery of the old country. It was observed that the machinery was cumbersome, lacking the completeness that is seen in our country. It was found that the wages are, on an average, 33 per cent. lower than in America. The printing trades are about where they were in this country twenty years ago." Mr. Thorpe, member of the party, reports that the engineers of Europe are not organized, and that they receive wages 50 per cent. lower than are paid for the same work in America. Those who seek to disturb the relations of capital and labor, and to make the workingmen dissatisfied with their condition, will be amazed and confounded when the entire report of this foreign investigation is published.

THE LIE WELL STUCK TO.

The democratic campaign in Washington, Dakota and Montana has been a campaign of falsehood. The democratic platform, in Washington, was a fabric of lies and its falsehoods were supplemented by the egregious ignorance and unscrupulous lying of their campaign speakers. The old-time democrat is a person that his party leaders are perfectly safe to lie to, if he knows the statement is a lie he doesn't care, but as a rule he neither knows or cares, but when it is necessary for the democracy to make converts in order to carry the new states it is disastrous for them to frame a platform out of falsehood, and fill their campaign speech with untruths, because the immigration to the new states since 1884 is composed of a class of voters who read and remember what they read, so that the campaign of falsehood in Washington fell flat from the start.

It is never safe to lie in politics to an intelligent audience, especially when the opposition are awake, energetic and voiced by leaders of superior intelligence. In nothing has the failure of the democratic campaign in Washington been more conspicuous than in its effort to repudiate Cleveland, and to pretend that he and his party did not try last year to retain power by striking at the principle of protection to American industry. The republican party not only proposes to tax the people for the actual needs of the government, but also to encourage and build up our American industries that need nourishment and protection. The democracy last year proposed to rob the Northern farmer by enacting "free wool," to protect the rice and sugar of the South, and to bid for the vote of the manufacturer by continuing to protect his industry. The farmers of the West and South were strong enough to defeat the democracy, and they have not forgotten the names or the faces of the partisans of Cleveland who then tried to rob the North to make a new shirt for the South.

The present attitude of the democracy, as set forth in their platforms in Washington, Ohio and New York, was happily satirized by Chauncey Depew when he said:

> The persistency and consistency with which, under one name and another, the advocates of free trade march, year after year, to certain destruction, extort a compliment for their courage if they fail to obtain one for their discretion. The failure of experience to improve or convert them from the error of their doctrines, and their fatal results, reminds me of a small boy whom I once saw wandering among the smaller gravestones in the Peekskill churchyard. Forgetting the fate of his companions who lay under the sod, he was serenely eating green apples and singing "Nearer, My God, to Thee."

NO PLEDGE BROKEN

At the New York state democratic convention held at Syracuse the 1st inst. Lieutenant-Governor Jones in his speech charged the republican administration with bad faith to the Union veterans, because the president would not permit the laws, of which he is the executive, to be violated by the commissioner of pensions and finally removed him, because he persisted in substituting his private, personal sympathies for the federal statutes. The republican party did pledge to the Union veteran a just and generous administration of the pension laws, but under that pledge no president could, as an honest man, respecting his oath, permit those laws to be violated. General Jones among other things said:

> In the political campaign of 1888 the soldier was promised pensions galore. Influenced by their prejudices, tempted by their greed, they rallied to the republican standard by regiments. When the administration assumed power their confidence was renewed. They felt encouraged by the appointment of one from their own ranks as commissioner of pensions, who, upon assuming the office, assured his old comrades that the liberal promises he had made, by authority, on the stump, should be faithfully carried out. He took his position with honest intentions, carrying out what had been taught in the campaign to be the policy of the republican administration if elected, but which he soon found out was intended as their policy if not elected. He was a faithful soldier, who thought he was obeying the orders of his superior officers when he opened the floodgates of the treasury.

The passage quoted is a lie and an insult to every veteran who calls himself an intelligent man. Of course the republican party was never understood by any honest veteran to promise what it could not perform. The party could promise to favor additional pension legislation; it could promise for the president that he would recommend a generous and liberal construction of the spirit of existing laws rather than a narrow and technical adherence to their letter, and that pledge has been fulfilled. No veteran ever expected that the president would wink at plain violation of the law; no veteran ever supposed that Corporal Tanner was able to grant a pension in violation of law, or that he would be permitted to ignore law to gratify his personal sympathy for his comrades. No political party ever promised the soldier support in any other sense than to construe the pension laws liberally, and to pass additional legislation if needed; but to pretend that the republican party ever promised the soldier to violate the law for his benefit, or to pretend that Corporal Tanner ever supposed that he was expected to violate law is an assertion so outrageous as to be worthy of bedlam, if sincerely uttered by Governor Jones.

THE CALIFORNIA BOOMER.

A California real estate boomer named Fergusson, said to be in the employ of the Southern Pacific, is quoted as saying:

> We all know that Oregon and Washington territory have been trading on our popular climate and at the same time profiting by the cry of cheap lands in those districts as compared with the so-called high-priced land of our state. The idea is prevalent in the East that no good land can be had in California without paying therefor a fabulous price, when in fact California land, considered from any standpoint of fair comparison is infinitely cheaper than land in Oregon or Washington.

Mr. Fergusson should remember that the company he is working for also has lands in Oregon, and should govern his mendacity accordingly. Regarding his statements, lest they may be credited by people who have never been upon this coast, it may be well to say a few words. It may be, perhaps, too much to expect that one trained in the ways of the California boomer should all at once descend to provable statements of facts, even after such a collapse as has swept over that state. Therefore we must not be too hard upon Mr. Fergusson. The rapid growth of Washington territory, as shown by the returns of the election just over, speak volumes in her favor. As for Oregon, she has no need to trade upon the reputation of California or any other state. The climate here is on the whole better than that of California. This is no idle statement, but one founded upon the actual experience of those persons who have dwelt in both states, and this is further attested by the fact that while comparatively few abandon Oregon for California, our population is being constantly increased by families who have tried California have become dissatisfied and have immigrated to Oregon and prospered and who prefer the climate here to that of the golden state.

Land is either cheap or high only when considered with due regard to productiveness and proximity to market. True, we have no land here, comparatively speaking, as high as it was in Los Angeles when in the fever heat of her unstable prosperity, or as low as it is there now, when that forlorn city has been stripped of her boomers and her brass bands. But we have millions of acres near to the railroads rich in every possibility, that may be had for prices lower than any farming land can be had in California. When this frothy agent claims, as he does later on, that land in California is cheaper an hundred-fold than are the lands of any other state or territory in the United States, he reveals the true absurdity of his position and shows his own unreliability.

It is particularly unkind and uncalled for to attack our state after such fashion. Oregon moves on in a slow and even way. She has been literally harmed in by booms. California had her great uplifting by the gold excitement and profited by the influx of men who have developed her resources. Nevada has had her day. Thousands flocked to her borders and gave her a momentary prominence. Washington has been persistently boomed by railroads and individuals and is reaping the harvest. Oregon to a great extent has been unmoved by all this push and energy surrounding her. But of late years the improvement and development here has begun, and great prosperity seems to usher in a new era of progress. If our state grows great we at least have the proud satisfaction of knowing that this progress has not been achieved by injuring our neighbors. The California land boomers will find that more substantial benefit will result to their state by telling the truth than by slandering without provocation the neighboring state upon the northern border.

The gambling places are again in full blast in Portland, despite the ostentatious purging of the police on the plea of "increased efficiency." We suppose the gamblers have been assured that they will receive the customary courtesy of a notice from the chief of the police whenever a raid is contemplated. Gambling, as has been said over and over again produces nothing, adds nothing to the general wealth. It is a more demoralizing vice than drink, because an intemperate man is not seldom an honest man, who scorns to be a thief, but as a rule men who gamble end by robbing their employers to make good their losses. A professional gambler is a bandit, who, when he is out of luck, leans on his harlot for support, and when both are out of luck the gambler soon stoops to swindling theft and kindred crimes. Gambling demoralizes not only the card sharp, but his victim; the rook and the pigeon. It is the foe of industry and thrift, the source of idleness, degradation and pecuniary dishonesty; and no man can be a persistent gambler without blunting the edge of integrity and losing a fine sense of honor.

The secretary of the interior fears to remove Geronimo and his band of Indians to a tract of land in North Carolina, as proposed, "lest their health suffer from the change of climate." The people of that state object to the permanent colonization of these blood-thirsty savages on their soil also on the score of health—not that of the poor red men, however. In this dilemma congress will probably be called upon to choose a "healthful" location for the Indians, a matter of importance to settlers, at least. The abandoned farming region of old Vermont, of which we hear so much, is urged as suitable for the purpose, as it furnishes the mountain air that the Indians need, while its desertion by white people removes the objection that North Carolina people urge against having the savages for neighbors.

Whether leprosy is contagious or not is a subject of dispute among doctors, but there is no doubt that it is increasing throughout the world. It now prevails over more than one-fourth of the habitable globe. Dr. Prince Morrow, of New York city, who has personally studied the disease in the Sandwich Islands, reports that he found "the most abundant and conclusive proof of its extreme contagiousness," and he urges the adoption of measures in this country "for the isolation of every leper." There are 100 cases of leprosy reported from Key West alone. The leper hospitals of Norway contain 846 patients. There are 130 lepers on Robben island, near Cape Town, Africa. The lepers of Australia and New South Wales are mostly Chinamen. Forty-two lepers were recently reported at New Orleans.

Of the 906 laws enacted by the Forty-eighth congress, 682 were private. Of the 1442 acts of the Forty-ninth congress, 1019 were for individuals. But of all this vast number of special acts, very few provided for the payment of debts. Most of them were for pensions and for the relief of officers from the consequences of their own or their subordinates' neglect. As to special pensions granted in contravention of the general law, the presumption is against their honesty.

Henry S. Ives, for a young man, has accomplished much. He has achieved the infamy of being the most stupendous swindler and the greatest railroad wrecker which this rapid age has produced. The jury that tried Ives disagreed and the young rascal temporarily is saved from the punishment merited. All men who have at heart the preservation of public mercantile integrity will hope that upon his next trial this "Napoleon" of Wall street will meet his just deserts.

Many Western cities contrive to amuse themselves in fighting over the question of population. Kansas City and Omaha are engaged in that business now. The former claims twice the population of the latter. If these two growing cities will exercise just a small quantity of patience Mr. Robert P. Porter, United States census commissioner, will settle the question without either war or bloodshed, and much printers' ink will be saved.

Delegates from the Central and South American states to the All American congress will have an opportunity to see by actual observation something of the magnitude and resources of the United States. A tour extending over twenty states will be taken previous to the assembling of the congress, from which much good is expected.

The Carson Appeal, in speaking of the present terrible drouth in Nevada, unmercifully scores the last legislature for its parsimony in refusing to devote money for the encouragement of irrigation. The Appeal asserts that enough water went to waste from the mountains last winter to water the entire state throughout all the dry season.

Prohibition appears to be defeated in North Dakota and victorious in South Dakota. This difference in results is probably due to the fact that North Dakota's next neighbor, Minnesota, has high license, while South Dakota is influenced by its close contact with Iowa where prohibition rules the press and the rural districts.

Never in the history of California have mountain and ranch fires been so destructive as this year. The total damage already incurred will exceed $1,000,000.

A few days ago a stolen copy of the mailing list of the North American Review was offered for sale to the proprietors of the Forum. Being honorable journalists the latter refused to purchase, and rewarded the thief for his pains by handing him over to the authorities. A large amount of eulogy has been lavished upon the Forum's publishers which seems overstrained. They simply refused to profit by an open theft. The standard of morals is lowered when we bestow undue praise upon men who have done nothing more than plain straight duty.

The mackerel catch is almost a total failure this year, showing but 10,800 barrels against 23,521 last year, and 54,919 in 1887. At this rate of decrease the fisheries question, so far as the mackerel is concerned, will shortly be settled without international intervention and the fierce wrath of Canadian editors.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED.

The board [illegible] Young Men's Christian Association [illegible] a great deal of work [illegible] committees were appointed as follows: [illegible] Mr J W Hart [illegible] Mr [illegible] Wm [illegible] Morse and [illegible] Fulton.

[illegible] will be [illegible] Saturday evening at 8 o'clock [illegible] The [illegible] consist of music [illegible] the [illegible] will [illegible] Saturday evening [illegible] to [illegible] promptly.

[illegible] teacher [illegible] Tuesday evening [illegible] will be given to the members [illegible] and the teachers.

IS HE CRAZY?

For several months some man has been in the habit every few weeks, of chasing the carrier of this paper [illegible] The boy passes that point about [illegible] o'clock in the morning. Saturday morning the carrier was [illegible] for some distance [illegible] The fellow [illegible] has been going on for about a year every few weeks. The fellow is supposed [illegible] What his object is cannot [illegible] The police should investigate the matter as he may be crazy.

HE FOUGHT HIM [illegible] PANTHER.

Mr H. L. [illegible] returned yesterday from his trip on Smith river in Umpqua valley. He brought back with him [illegible] panther skin that measures fully [illegible] from the nose to the tip of the tail. Mr [illegible] was pursuing a trail during the river when he discovered the panther [illegible] He fired wounding the animal [illegible] and a second shot brought him to the ground. Mr [illegible] will have the skin fully dressed and retain it as an evidence of his skill as a hunter.

HAND CRUSHED.

Tuesday night Councilman W. W. Terry had the misfortune to have his [illegible] hand badly crushed while attending to the machinery in Baker & Walker's exhibit in the exposition building. He was oiling the machinery, and in some way his hand was caught. He was removed to his home in Stephens addition and the wound was dressed. The physician reported the wound a painful one, and that it will be several weeks before he can use his hand.

ATTEMPTED ROBBERY.

Tuesday night an attempt was made to enter the house of J. A. McCormac on Thirteenth and J, at about 10 o'clock. The burglar was seen by Mr McCormac and the attempt was baffled. Some one was in Senator Watts' kitchen, but did not get away with anything. It would be well for everybody to exercise caution while there are so many people in the city.

NOTES.

W. A. Robeson, the conductor of the Ilwaco railroad has returned home to remain.

[illegible] TRIAL.

The trial of [illegible] of Orville Stewart the [illegible] indicted for obtaining goods under false pretenses from [illegible] Mayer & Co in January 1887 was set [illegible] November 6 and in the meantime the accused was liberated on [illegible] bond.

A HEAVY DAMAGE SUIT

[illegible] Kee [illegible] merchant yesterday sued William [illegible] for possession of [illegible] or $800 the value thereof [illegible] $500 damages and for his costs and disbursements.

A SMALL DOCKET

Yesterday was again an off day in the police court. There were but [illegible] before his honor, and their cases were summarily disposed of.

The case against N. Peterson charged with gambling, was dismissed for want of evidence. George [illegible] charged with roaming the streets after [illegible] o'clock midnight, was fined $5 and Frank Murphy, William Seely and J. Smith, simple drunks were [illegible] fined [illegible] each.

A MISUNDERSTANDING

Chee Mow was tried in Justice Tuttle's court yesterday on a charge of having threatened to shoot William Dunbar. The defendant told a very plausible story saying that he threatened to sue Mr Dunbar for certain property, instead of shooting him. The celestial most likely told the truth as Mr Dunbar was yesterday sued for the property in the circuit court. The case was dismissed.

HOHN FINED

John Hohn, an employe of the Oregon Furniture Company found guilty Monday of an assault and battery upon a fellow employe, was fined $50 by Justice Tuttle yesterday. This low fine was imposed upon him because of the great provocation given him to commit the offense.

EVANS ESCAPES PUNISHMENT

Thomas Evans, the moulder was under indictment for the larceny of a large sum of money from his wife Maria. When the case was called yesterday the district attorney moved that the indictment be dismissed as husband and wife had patched up their differences.

PORTLAND THURSDAY, OCT 3

AN ANNUAL JEREMIAD

The annual j[illegible]m[illegible]d of George William Curtis on the subje[ct] of civil service reform was read before the National Civil Service Reform League in Philadelphia Tuesday, and a synopsis of the same has been given by the Associated Press dispatches to the country

Mr Curtis, being a sincere advocate of this reform, takes it to heart greatly that it does not make more rapid advancement but finds consolation in the belief that the sentiment that underlies the political pledges that support it is making visible progress among the people and that though the opposition is stubborn and resolute the advance of the principle is sure

His review of the shortcomings of President Harrison's administration in regard to civil service reform is similar to that which he furnished of President Cleveland's after patient and hopeful waiting and watching to see what the latter would do in the premises. Carefully consulting the record he found that the democrats got the postoffices under Mr Cleveland without regard to the qualifications, outside of party lines of themselves or their predecessors in office and he now finds that the republicans were reinstated within less than half of a year after President Harrison's inauguration, in more than one fourth of the fourth class offices throughout the country

It would seem that Mr Curtis has been an observer of the political methods of the United States long enough not to be surprised at such findings as these Matters of such common notoriety are scarcely worthy of serious rehearsal to the public The thirst for office is not a democratic nor yet a republican characteristic It is an outgrowth of a system or policy inaugurated by Andrew Jackson, which proclaimed that political spoils were proper perquisites of political victory. As the country has grown in extent and resources the patronage of the government has increased enormously carrying the spoils system with it until the demands made upon the executive and the various heads of departments upon a change of administration are clamorous to a degree that would be disgraceful were it not so common

The pledges of civil service reform made by either party are of necessity under these conditions, to a great extent empty ones No man can accomplish the impossible in politics any more than in any other sphere of action, and when President Cleveland was made to endorse a lot of high sounding phrases in the matter of civil service reform and captured the hearts of superficial observers by declaring a "public office to be a public trust," practical people knew that the candidate if successful, would be so overwhelmed by the pressure of the hungry hordes of the democracy that the pledges would amount to nothing substantial in the way of reform A few enthusiasts, of whom Mr Curtis was chief were disappointed at the result Now and then a republican who was conscious of having administered the affairs of his office honestly and with at least average capability, expected to hold on until "cause" for his removal was shown but this speedily came Voting the republican ticket was readily interpreted as "pernicious political activity," and nothing was easier than to make the charge of "offensive partisanship" extend even to women of republican antecedents or associations who held positions under the government as postmasters or postoffice employes Few people, comparatively thought it worth while to protest against this transparent evasion of reform pledges, and those who did were laughed at for their pains With the majority of the people it was quite the thing expected So also, when Mr Curtis declares that during the first five months of the present administration the assistant postmaster general removed 15 000 fourth class postmasters, the public is not even surprised, since this also was the thing expected Public sentiment in this matter goes no further than to demand efficient service in handling and distributing the mails and cares little, in a general way, for the politics of the postmaster or the political proclivities of the bright, active young woman who hands out letters on time at the general delivery It may be, as Mr Curtis says that civil service is making headway in sentiment among the people, but among the politicians generally, who rule in the councils of both parties it finds little favor except in party platforms the chief design of which is to give voters a rallying point, around which they can become enthusiastic as the "silver tongued orators" of the party interpret its wisdom and descant upon the saving grace of its political virtues

It is sad to see a man of the age, experience and erudition of George William Curtis pinning his faith to political platforms and wasting his time feeling aggrieved because his confidence therein proves to have been misplaced. More philosophical, but perhaps less conscientious men are disposed to take the world as they find it and thus save themselves unnecessary annoyances and the sure disappointment that is the portion of the anxious reformer

NOTE AND COMMENT

A Walla Walla lady, while eating oysters on the half-shell in a restaurant in that city recently, found a $160 pearl in one of the oysters which she has had set for a breastpin Such little incidents of real life as this seldom happen outside of Walla Walla The papers of that city are blessed with a fine stock of rising young journalists who are always on the lookout for items of this sort.

The sheriffs of the different Eastern Oregon counties are planning a call for a sheriffs' convention the object of which is to organize and perfect plans to co-operate with one another for the detection and capture of horse thieves and other criminals. A similar organization exists in Iowa, and is said to be far more effective than the present plan by which there is little co-operation among the sheriffs.

When the survey of the state line between Oregon and California was made some fifteen years ago, the witness trees were mostly of a younger growth and the prevalence of forest fires in recent years has about obliterated all traces of the survey A man who recently took the contract for surveying five townships in Curry county was obliged to suspend operations owing to there being no corner monuments remaining along the surveyed route of the state line.

Improvements at the state insane asylum is progressing rapidly The bricklayers are up one story on the new wing and it will be ready for occupancy by the 1st of next June It will be much needed by that time as the number of patients in this institution is now increasing very rapidly and is crowding the already very limited accommodations. Another excellent feature of the asylum to be constructed is a large swimming bath for the use of patients This will be a source of pleasure to the patients as well as an incentive to cleanliness.

Crook county has some energetic young women Quite a number of them in the vicinity of Prineville have taken up ranches and are becoming very expert farmers, in some cases developing more knowledge of the proper management of a farm and stock in order to make them pay than the average man One energetic young woman, who recently made final proof on 160 acres on Bear creek, informs the Ochoco Review that she harvested eight tons of hay this season Ochoco girls believe in making known to the world their good qualities, and if Crook county young men don't look out they will see their chances, like sunbeams, pass them by

In this year of scarcity of grass the local stockmen, be they sheep, cattle or horse raisers, express but little sympathy for the predatory owners of large herds of stock who have suffered from short range this season on their annual drive through the country, says the Jacksonville Times These gentry are in the habit of sweeping over the land with their all-devouring herds, consuming every spear of grass in their line of march, paying no taxes, ruining the range for other stock and having a disastrous effect on the local markets. It is not as though they merely drove through the country, for they loiter along through the entire season and their incursions are only to be likened to a plague of locusts.

PATRICK MIND THE BABY

The show took place in the music hall, where seats had been arranged in a circle around the central floral piece As soon as the children were registered the mothers took seats and waited for 3 o'clock to come. At 2 30 Liberati's musicians made their appearance and struck up that familiar household air "Patrick Mind the Baby"

Patrick mind the baby
Now Patrick mind the child
Wrap him up in your overcoat,
Or surely he'll go wild.

The judges of infantile beauty came on the scene at 3 15. They were Mr F A Knapp traveling agent for Frank Bros & Co, Mr F H Leohler and Mrs. Hazeltine Their identity was known to but few while the show was in progress They joined the crowd and followed it in its march around the ring. Not a whimper was heard while they made their solemn round They awarded prizes as follows

Boys—First, Donald Radcliffe second, George Dillon

Girls—First, Ruby Crichton, second, Mary Blaser

MUSIC FOR THE BABIES

The afternoon music programme was arranged by Liberati largely with a view of pleasing the little ones as well as those "children of a larger growth," who invariably abound when a display of infantile charms and graces is announced. Say what may be said all well conditioned men and women love the babies, whether they are their own or somebody else's and they cannot help it, and would not if they could. And in passing it may be remarked that a nicer better dressed better behaved set of babies than, in the arms of their grandmothers mothers, aunties cousins and nurses were ranged around the circular flower stand in Floral hall yesterday afternoon could not be found in Oregon, or out of it either, for that matter

A nursery air "Patrick Mind the Baby," opened the concert, and after the overture from the "Last Days of Pompeii" and the "See Saw" waltze had been given, Madame Romani sung the "Lullaby" from Ernani with charming expressiveness, the machinery in the upper hall being stopped in order to give the mothers and children the full benefit of the delightful melody The band played "The Baby Polka," a most amusing musical skit which wound up with a first class imitation of a good sized healthy stout lunged baby in the tantrums, followed by a series of sounds which resembled nothing so much as a scientific spanking administered to the refractory young one

A new candidate for the honors of a soloist made his appearance in the person of Signor Stanzione, who gave the "Waltz Nightingale" on the piccolo in that finished manner characteristic of every artist which Liberati has associated with him What with his trills and roulades one could hardly help thinking that the palms and rose bushes in Floral hall were inhabited by scores of that "bashful bird of Eden which shuns the plumed throng" Liberati played another solo in his usually perfect manner and responded gracefully to an imperative encore A rollicking gallop by the band sent the crowd home in good humor for their suppers

THE EVENING MUSIC

The evening programme was one of rare excellence Beethoven's "Transcript" the dreamy and passionate "Blue Danube" "Reminiscences from Tannhauser" "The Autumn from 'Rosamunde'" are only a few of the charming ensemble of gems with which the evening was adorned A baritone solo by Signor Bolli and a tenor solo by Signor Pesei formed the vocal part of the evening's entertainment These accomplished artists have fairly won their way into popular favor, their painstaking excellence daily add to the high appreciation in which they are held Liberati's solo last night was an event in the musical annals of Portland After giving "La Traviata" as announced on the programme an encore, not to be denied called the maestro out again and the "Miserere" was given in a style which aroused the enthusiasm of the thousands present to the highest pitch

Signor Pesei the gifted tenor sang the air and words of Maurico in this entrancing scene and from the bugle of Liberati in cadences which surpassed any effect produced by the human voice, came the sorrowful plaint of the hapless Leonora. Words would fail, even if space permitted, to do justice to this the crowning triumph, as yet, of the brilliant Italian who has already done so much to delight the visitors to the exposition. Those who heard the "Miserere" last night will keep the memory of it as a treasure not to be parted from To morrow night the numbers will be selected from the highest classics and visitors will have an opportunity among other things, to hear the mystic and profound strains of Wagner, the pr[illegible] fifty tim[illegible]

[illegible] AT THE FAIR

Wedding day [illegible] the next [illegible] of importance [illegible] Two [illegible] terday that they were willing to be married in the building and [illegible] the [illegible] der [illegible] superintendent [illegible] have [illegible] in the building [illegible] these days.

OREGON GRAPES

Interesting as the exposition is and suggestive as it is of the wealth and resources of Oregon and the great Northwest [illegible] an easy [illegible] visitor has succeeded in acquainting himself with the [illegible] of Oregon's [illegible] wealth and prosperity Wool grain dairy products live stock lumber fish [illegible] coal iron and other metals [illegible] are basic facts upon which great commonwealth [illegible] These are the raw materials out of which is carved the grand proportions of a great state The four weeks [illegible] intelligently to study [illegible] this most [illegible] exposition [illegible] all too brief a time for the purpose

[illegible] but at the same time of great value [illegible] of the [illegible] Western [illegible] Oregon's [illegible] matter [illegible] and regarding [illegible] wholesome [illegible] grown [illegible] of jellies, jams [illegible] picturesque [illegible] the household [illegible] spread the tempting tea table in the cool of the evening it is a great deal to know that [illegible] Oregon [illegible] fruit find a congenial [illegible] as the display now to be seen in the Exposition building is [illegible] matter to be regretted since the casual visitor, [illegible] the eastern Oregon exhibit [illegible] will be made the subject of another notice The [illegible] of The Oregonian [illegible] is requested to [illegible] the following catalogue of Oregon grapes now to be seen in the Exposition building.

[illegible] from [illegible] shows the following Royal Muscat [illegible] Chasselas Rose very fine Black Hamburg, clusters [illegible] from one to five pounds each White [illegible] Lady Downe [illegible] very large black grape [illegible] beautiful and delicate [illegible] that General Marrion [illegible] Black [illegible] Chasselas Fontainbleau Black Spanish Cravling, Sweetwater Diana Concord Delaware [illegible] Emmelon Agawam Red [illegible] and Goethe This is a list from which the most fastidious taste might make a satisfactory selection

Captain James [illegible] Varney of the Dalles Wasco county comes to the front with the following varieties Black Hamburg Rose of Peru Chasselas [illegible] Muscat of Alexandria Black [illegible] Flame Tokay, Sweetwater Concord Delaware [illegible] and [illegible] which he put on market on [illegible] A Californian who saw his grapes [illegible] best condition remarked that [illegible] Californian forms [illegible] more attractive [illegible] than they ordinarily [illegible] introduced [illegible]

[illegible] of Milton [illegible] the eastern portion of Umatilla county, on the Walla Walla river shows Chasselas [illegible] Black Bishop a phenomenal [illegible] black grape in immense clusters the old California Mission retaining all its excellence as an [illegible] table grape the Golden Champion and the White [illegible] a very small seedless grape [illegible] Brolager of Mount Angel shows the Black Muscatel

Now there are scores of localities in both Western and Eastern Oregon from which equally fine displays might have been brought. The home hunter need only read over these lists and the few comments made to satisfy himself that Oregon can furnish all the grapes he needs for table use and for what the English housewife calls with pardonable pride her fruit room to wit, the place where she keeps her jellies, jams preserves etc and not half try What Oregon can do and is doing in way of figs, chestnuts hickory nuts, walnuts, butternuts [illegible] persimmons, etc will hereafter be referred to Her famous table fruits and berries of the temperate zone are already familiar to all the whole world and the rest of mankind

TO WHAT BASE USES, ETC.

In the lower garden this sign is to be found "In Hog signo Vinces." That is not exactly the way the second word was spelled when Constantine saw it written in the sky but it suits the owner of the floral display where it stands.

INTEREST INCREASING.

The Crowds Still Absorbed in the Individual Displays

Every Night's Visit Is a Revelation — New Things Being Constantly Seen Which Had Before Remained Unnoticed

It is remarkable just how much [illegible] crowded into the building of the Industrial Fair Association [illegible] the great fair for a single [illegible] of the many interests [illegible] by the [illegible] items of this city and [illegible] not alone that new features are being [illegible] exhibits but ones that the [illegible] could not escape the attention of the visitors are constantly forcing themselves on the attention of the constant attendant There is much of both great in [illegible] and instructive [illegible] of the [illegible] making the [illegible]

BRICK [illegible]

In the present era of prosperity [illegible] this country, building operations have assumed great proportions, and [illegible] the past year [illegible] also into scarcity of all classes of building material This is particularly true of brick [illegible] on the [illegible] of [illegible] enough brick to rebuild Seattle Spokane Falls [illegible] and other cities [illegible] the rebuilding of [illegible] as well as the making of other [illegible] Brick [illegible] Michigan [illegible] turning out [illegible] to be found in the exhibit of Stave & Walker in the New Market block Portland [illegible] and [illegible] completely [illegible] clay working machinery of every description in the Pacific coast

Stave & Walker [illegible] machinery [illegible] this department and [illegible] almost every kind of [illegible] machinery [illegible] brick [illegible] mill [illegible] machinery of every [illegible] is the most attractive feature [illegible] hall as quite a number of [illegible] the style and [illegible] performance of their machinery is [illegible] to be seen on the Pacific coast

[illegible] visitors to the fair will [illegible] by examining [illegible] every visitor will at this [illegible] free of charge to the [illegible]

[illegible]

Owing to their big [illegible] business the [illegible] at Eastern [illegible] with [illegible] No [illegible] of Washington street [illegible] usual display at the fair the present year it can be said here [illegible] and this fact is worthy of the [illegible] attention on the part of every [illegible] visitor that this company carries at all times the fullest and most carefully selected stock of the [illegible] city. [illegible] are now giving away an elegant [illegible] which is guaranteed [illegible] finest [illegible] market Everybody should call and secure a chance in this great prize

[illegible]

A grand improvement in the line of spring [illegible] is [illegible] play [illegible] Bros [illegible] and has successfully stood [illegible] test and answers every purpose of a perfect spring As indicative of the popularity of this [illegible] in this market it is only necessary to [illegible] for the past three years. In 1886 [illegible] in the following year 900 were put upon the market and this year up to the present time the total sales of these springs have reached [illegible] Of the first 4000 but one was broken and this break was directly attributable to a flaw in the steel of the spring. Mr D W Davis general manager for the coast, is exhibiting these springs and can be found at the warerooms of Fawcett Bros, 168 and 210 Front This gentleman will be [illegible] to have all visitors to the fair call and examine the [illegible] and he will guarantee that every one of these springs sold will give the utmost satisfaction

THE NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE

It was the intention of the managers of the New Home Company to make an exhibit at the Industrial fair this year but it was not anticipated that any difficulty would arise in the matter of securing an adequate amount of space wherein to make a suitable display and it may be stated right here that the New Home managers are not the only ones who are disappointed in consequence of the failure to obtain the necessary amount of space Such however is the case and though the disappointment may be keenly felt, it may be truthfully said that the industrial fair is deprived of what would have been an important acquisition to the general display inasmuch as the New Home sewing machine constitutes an important factor in the realm of domestic economy All persons desirous of examining this famous machine will be cordially received at the Portland office of the company, No 80 Morrison street

AN EXHIBIT OF SOAPS

The Oregon City Manufacturing Company have added to their already extensive [illegible] department devoted to the manufacture of soap Recognizing the demand for fine grades of soap this enterprising house has gone to an enormous expense in securing the machinery [illegible] for the production of the finest brands of laundry toilet and bath as well as all kinds of pressed soap The plant is the only one [illegible] the Pacific coast which is absolutely complete in all its details The natural consequence is that the company is to-day turning out the finest soap which it is possible to manufacture and notwithstanding the fact that 60,000 pounds are now being produced [illegible] the supply is far from being equal to the demand. A most creditable exhibit of the choice varieties of soaps may be seen at the fair, the massive blocks, piled tier upon tier being strikingly suggestive of possible universal cleanliness Merchants throughout the country will do well to remember that patronizing home industries strengthens commercial prosperity and they should by all means give the soaps of this company a trial

BOOKS AND STATIONERY

Lowndale Wheeler & Co the well known booksellers and stationers, have particularly neat and attractive display which gives a correct representation of their business Handsomely bound books and albums adorn the sides of their booth while the large showcase in front is filled with a well selected line of fancy and staple stationery

FAIR NOTES

To those who are interested in Oriental curiosities among whom may be numbered many of the ladies one of the most pleasing sights at the exhibition is the display of Andrew Kan & Co This firm shows an almost bewildering assortment of antique Japanese and Chinese curiosities elegant porcelain chinaware cloissonne satsuma bronzes and ivory carvings There is also an elaborate display of silk, crepe and satin embroideries etc arranged in a very tasteful manner Visitors will be well repaid by calling at the Japanese Bazaar 144 First street, as many novel articles suitable for holiday gifts may be seen there

G Heitkemper at 101 Third street has a rare collection of uncut diamonds which are worthy of the attention of all lovers of these gems Mr Heitkemper is a practical and competent jeweler of many years experience and his stock includes perhaps the best selection of goods to be found in the Northwest. Both his store and stock are entirely new and his store establishment in this city has been especially fitted up with a view to richness, without being gaudy His is the neatest jewelry store in Portland and should be visited by everyone before returning home

At the Portland Mechanics fair, in the year 1885, the first premium of a silver medal was awarded to O Schumann for the greatest excellence in artistic marble cutting This year Mr Schumann, having, but limited space in the industrial building is necessarily debarred from making an extensive showing but the high order of work which he is able to turn out is demonstrated by the stone fount in which is to be found in the midst of one of the principal floral exhibitions at the fair

Every visitor to the fair ought to be informed that the Kohler & Chase Music House of 171 Morrison street of this city keeps the finest line of small musical instruments of any house in the Northwest They also carry the famous Mason & Hamlin organs and the Matchless Decker Bros piano these visitors will be both entertained and instructed by calling on this firm at their salesrooms and a cordial invitation is extended them to drop in while in the city

The foliage exhibit of Messrs Burkhardt Bros is one of the greatest central features of the lower floor It is in full view of the seats commanding a view of the stage and is spoken of as one of the most creditable exhibits in the whole building These gentlemen are certainly to be commended on their tasty work and the [illegible] of their efforts is a matter of great satisfaction to both themselves and to the management of the fair

One of the most thoroughly interesting of the exhibits at the fair is the display of the Imperial Photograph Company The various portraits of the subjects as shown by the likenesses reflects great credit upon their skill ability of the proprietor Messrs Fearn & Lamb [illegible] Visitors in the city desirous of obtaining really first class photographs should not fail to call at the gallery [illegible] at the northwest corner of Third and Morrison streets

The fine silk curtain display of Walter Brothers the largest carpet dealers on the coast [illegible] particularly worthy of the inspection of all visitors This is the finest display of these fine lines ever before made at any fair in Portland and is a very creditable exhibit for the house that has made it In addition to curtains this same firm shows some elegant lines of carpets that cannot perhaps be duplicated in the Northwest

That big and true painting of the big hotel so placed in the east wing as to be plainly seen by every one on the lower floor of this portion of the building, is the subject of much favorable comment This was the work of Messrs Berger & Waddell, the leading sign painters of the city and reflects as does their other work at the fair great credit on this firm for artistic and realistic work.

The Hardman piano is the universal attraction at the fair It seems to be the general favorite For sale only in this city by W B Shanahan, Abington building Third street

The fine silver mug, the second prize for the boy under one year of age awarded yesterday, was contributed by the well known crockery dealers, Olds & Summers, of this city

Craps in Louisville.

Courier-Journal.

It is doubtful if faro, keno, poker, and other games of chance in the palmiest days of gambling ever reached the present rage for craps or [illegible] At first it was confined to the darkies [illegible] but now it has spread to all classes [illegible] It is yet a distinctively African game The darkies play it in all [illegible] articles, it strikes [illegible] the small newsboys throw for seven and eleven [illegible] in the very face of the police for coppers, in the saloons, even of the better sort the dice are thrown for the drinks and even those who have begun to [illegible] and [illegible] Come my "Little Joe," or Come on seven for the drinks

The evil has grown to [illegible] especially among the lower classes that Judge Thompson and Chief of Police Wood have combined to put a stop to it This is very difficult to do, however, as it is the rarest thing in the world to catch a crap shooter to inform on another They invariably swear, when taken in a bunch that they have seen or thrown no dice and give vague excuses for having dropped in at the meeting places When one is arrested he always says he happened in just a few minutes before the raid was made Some [illegible] darkies will raise a question, he know nothing [illegible] by swearing that he don't know how to play there being a tradition among the [illegible] frequenters that all darkies play craps by instinct, just the same as they eat watermelon

SERVIA CELEBRATES A DEFEAT

The Five Hundredth Anniversary of a Great Battle Fitly Honored

SCHOOL [illegible] NOT [illegible] WINNING

Dr [illegible] a professor in the great German university of Gottingen is alarmed at the increase of [illegible] in his country Taking the number of students enrolled on the books of the twenty one German universities at 29,000—Berlin heading the list with less than 6000, while [illegible] brings up the rear with something over 700—the professor shows that fully one half of these home [illegible] are doomed to a life of poverty and disappointment The vast majority of these 9,000 Burschen are looking forward to becoming lawyers or doctors or pastors, or schoolmasters or in some other way either in private life or as servants of the state, to earn their bread by means of the education they are at present so laboriously acquiring Professor Virchow recently advised young men to abandon all thought of finding a career in medicine, and more than once both in America and Great Britain, figures have been published showing that there are not patients for half the doctors or clients for half the lawyers or churches for a fifth of the curates who are every year let loose upon the world The London Standard recites these facts and says

The real cause will, we venture to think, be found in the ever increasing tendency on the part of parents and their sons to look to the "gentle" [illegible] professions instead of the more lucrative [illegible] more certain callings of a less "genteel" description. In Germany and America this trait is perhaps exhibited in its most exaggerated form, simply because in those countries professional training is cheap and the preliminary education abundant or easy to attain. But we see it everywhere else Since the school boards brought the three Rs within the reach of every child, it is notorious that these youthful graduates have displayed a repugnance to the useful lives to which they have been born They want to "better" them selves by becoming city clerks or nursery governesses

LONDON GRAIN LETTER.

London correspondent of the Northwestern writing under date of September 11, and taking of the world's wheat outlook says

"The warm weather has been experienced past week, which has been very favor for the harvest in the north of England the result will probably be better than was a few weeks ago This fact, added to imports during the past few weeks, has the wheat trade in a very quiet state and have further given way to some extent. there is absolutely no disposition to speculate, under the impression that there will of wheat forthcoming this season not standing the failure of the Russian and Hun crops Red winter steamers for Septem shipment offer in vain at 32s per 480 pounds, California for prompt shipment goes beg 6d per 500 pounds. New wheat is be offered pretty freely both in this and in France with the usual effect of depressing prices somewhat. After the first blush however I look for a return of firmness, there can be no doubt at all that the world's production in 1889 is not sufficient to supply wants without drawing upon the already re stock of old wheat. The closing months of the year will I fancy see the trade awakened to the true position of affairs, and though I confess I see nothing in the out warrant any big advance there is really but the present temporary excess of new offered to cause any decline From all I read in the American journals to hand this week the garbled reports from the Vienna con cabled to America August 26 and 27 caused amount of excitement Well they might do if there was any prospect for such a shortage in European crop as 180 000,000 bushels which, it said the Vienna reports indicated As a mat fact the real shortage as I showed you in letter of some six weeks ago is nearer 000 bushels, and perhaps 40 000 000 bushels is made up by the large surplus of old existing in Russia. We do not in fact attach serious importance to the Vienna congress estimates, except so far as regards the Austro-Hungarian crops and even in connection with the figures have sometimes been sadly Thus the reports from Vienna had no effect whatever on the English markets. To make matters a little straight for I have seen some very curious world's crop estimates" in some of your contemporaries I give you below the very latest estimates of the world's wheat which will serve you as a basis for future comparison. I am not quite sure whether I have already given you any such statement this sea but, in any case, these figures may be taken as representing to all intends and purposes the real state of the case. The figures for last year are in nearly every case official or semi official

In 1887 the total crop was about 2,090,000,000 bushels, in 1886 and 1885 about 2,000 000 000 bush and in 1884 about 2,200 000,000 bushels. I have proved that last year the world grow enough to supply its requirements drawing on the reserves, which were the abundant crop of 1887. This year have to draw on in the shape of old wheat, and the position is thereby strengthened It will however take some time before this fact will begin to exert itself

SALMON—An Eastern trade circula says "Salmon is beginning to show a stronger market The loss of the Wildwood with 31 000, the Ancon with 14 000 and the burning of the cannery at Clarence straits, make a decided change in the situation and were it not for the unexpectedly large pack on the Fraser Alaska salmon would have advanced fully 50c a case As it is the market is very strong and the consumption has been unusually large.

The Merchandise Market.

The condition of general trade is healthy Farmers are letting their wheat go whenever the market price is offered. The San Francisco Commercial News in its regular weekly review of the market has the following regarding coffees and rice

While there has been no change in the quotations for coffee during the week the local market has been very dull and the tendency is therefore toward easier prices The New York market according to mail advices is bare of choice qualities of Rio and prices are higher According to the Rio News parties who have traveled through the interior of Brazil report that the appearance of the coffee plantations is very irregular In Minas and Rio there are districts where the trees appear to be hopelessly dried up by the drouth while others still show life enough to yield a moderate crop if the rains should soon put in an appearance In San Paulo the plantations are in better condition and the new orchards may be expected to make up a good part of the deficiency The statement made six months ago has been confirmed as regards the coffee beans of the present crop (1889 90) being to a large extent quakers due to the exceptional drouth at the end of the last and commencement of the present year The actual hulling is showing that instead of five quartas (of an arroba) producing, as in preceding years an arroba of clean coffee for his crop to produce the same weight from seven to eight quartas are required The arrival of the Douglas with further supplies of Island rice has turned the market more in buyers favor and sales usual time have been made at $4 50 per 100 pounds. NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK Oct 2.—The bullish feeling in the stock market was quite pronounced this morning, and on a moderate business advances were made in the early dealings The bullish feeling was most pronounced in Atchison and it rose 1 per cent in the first half hour with the rest of the list following It was then announced that another $500 000 of gold had been ordered for export by the Belmonts and the buying was checked. It was asserted that the amount to go out would be made up to $1 500 000 and, although there was no means of verifying the story, it made a bad impression and a reaction occurred In the afternoon a recovery took place and all of the losses were regained and something more The money market eased off materially in the last hour, and the rates went down to 3 per cent, at which it closed. The close was quiet and firm at close to the opening figures The list generally is slightly higher this evening while sugar is up 2¼c Manitoba 2c Canadian Pacific 1½c and Pullman 1¼c.

SAN FRANCISCO MARKET REVIEW

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct 2—In trade generally the fluctuations are more numerous than for several months showing more variable conditions due partly to speculation and partly to the natural law of supply and demand

The leading fluctuations are in the line of higher prices for coal iron and wheat and lower prices for sugar, cordage, hides, dairy products pork and one or two of the minor cereals

The local bank clearings fell off last week about $1 000 000 from those of the corresponding week last year

Money is in fair demand at 7 per cent the average rate for unquestionable commercial paper

Wheat is strong at $1 31¼ and $1 33¾ for No 1 shipping which is an advance over last week's quotations. The rise is in sympathy with the improvement abroad.

Wheat freights are also firmer, and 37s 6d is now being paid for iron vessels to the United Kingdom, Havre or Antwerp

The exports of wheat from this port thus far this year amount to 2,677,464 centals, valued at [illegible].

Millers report a fair demand for flour, and bakers extras were marked up 15 cents per barrel during the week.

Oats are dull with moderate offerings

The feature of the produce market for the past few days was the chaotic condition of butter It got into such a muddle that even the dealers were quarreling as to what the price ought to be Taking fancy as a basis some hung on to 35c per pound others being overloaded with stock and fearing a catastrophe let go at 30c others split the difference at about 32½c Toward the close sales of fancy at 30c were reported The cause of all this is the remarkable influx of Eastern butter drawn hither by the high prices and the diversion of consumption to this and pickled grades At the best, butter is weak and the market is stuffed with Eastern creamery and California pickled roll and firkin

Cheese is easy and abundant

Eggs are quiet due to free arrivals from Missouri river points

Honey is quiet easy and unchanged

Hay has moved up a little all around and is not as demoralized as it has been for several months.

Beans are moderately active there being some disposition to speculate at low prices

Dried fruit continues to move off well and dealers report stocks lighter than at this time of the year for many years

Peaches prunes and apricots meet with the best demand and peaches have again advanced under the extreme scarcity

Raisins are moving Eastward freely, over 2500 tons having been forwarded from Fresno alone thus far this season These raisins were sold by the growers at the average price of 5 cents per pound boxed in 20 pound boxes They are bringing in this market from $1 50 to $2 10 in layers and 8 ½c to $1 79 for loose. A carload has been shipped to Australia.

Canned fruits are in fair demand most of the inquiry being for peaches and pears with apricots a good third The prices show no change

"Used Up,"

"Tired Out," "No Energy," and similar expressions whenever heard indicate a lack of vital force, which, if not remedied in time may lead to complete physical and nervous prostration Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best medicine to vitalize the blood, build up the tissues, and make the weak strong

"For nearly three months I was confined to the house One of the most celebrated physicians of Philadelphia failed to discover the cause of my trouble or afford relief I continued in a bad way until about a month ago when I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla It acted like a charm I have gained flesh and strength and feel ever so much better Shall continue using the Sarsaparilla until completely cured"—John V Craven Salem, N J

"I find Ayer's Sarsaparilla to be an admirable remedy for the cure of blood diseases I prescribe it, and it does the work every time"—E L Pater M D, Manhattan, Kansas

MRS. SCOTT-SIDDONS HERE.

The Noted Dramatic Reader Opens Her Engagement To-night.

Interviewed by a Reporter—Her Late Illness—She Talks Freely of All Matters Excepting Her Age

Mrs Scott Siddons the noted dramatic reader, was seen by a reporter in her room in the Esmond hotel yesterday afternoon. The distinguished lady greeted the reporter with a kindly smile, and with a modest shake of the hand and a graceful bow she bade him be seated.

The reporter was surprised to see the change that has come over her through her last illness, which compelled her to change her dates for this coast some time ago She had a tired look her cheeks no longer reflected the rosebud hue, and her expression has lost much of the buoyancy and vivacity of radiant girlhood. This much has been done by an illness which nearly cost the talented lady her life

Her dark, expressive eyes, capable of measuring every human passion, have lost none of their erstwhile luster, her voice is still as resonant and melodious as of yore and she carries herself with the same queenly grace. Only the striking beauty of her features is subdued by the mellowing touch of illness

I have been very ill, said Mrs. Scott Siddons in reply to a query regarding her health "but I feel that I am rapidly regaining my former strength I hardly knew what it was to be sick for I have always had the good fortune to keep well ever since I made my first appearance in public I played my last engagement at Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, in July, and was taken sick with lung troubles soon after, while sojourning at one of the thousand islands in the mouth of the St Lawrence river

Yes I well remember my last visit to Portland said she gently led on by another question "I think it was eleven years ago in the fall of 1878. I had just returned from Australia and I more vividly remember the visit through an incident which greatly inconvenienced me at the time For some reason unknown to me, my baggage was delayed The night had come for me to make my initial bow before a Portland audience and I had none of my wardrobe What was I to do? Very fortunately a very kind lady named Mrs. Rothkin or Rothkill or some other name I now fail to recall assisted me to make up for the occasion I played the part of Beatrice in Much Ado About Nothing that night without my regular stage costumes, and I doubt whether [illegible] the audience were aware of the fact "

This is your third American season is it not, Mrs Siddons?

Yes replied she "I came to America soon after my first appearance in England, beginning the season in 1867, I think

Have you any preference in the matter of giving recitals or acting? was asked

"No I have not I have always made it a practice to dovetail the two One comes just as easy to me as the other I began my engagements in this country by acting Incidentally, I gave one or two recitals and they took so wonderfully that I continued giving them for eight years Australia is one of the few places where dramatic readings did not take and I was obliged to return to the stage

Is there any particular class of readings that you prefer giving to your audiences?

"I prefer, said Mrs Siddons "the strongly dramatic I like dialogues I never cared for mere elocutionary effort, and always liked the most vivid pathos, tragedy or comedy

Have you anything new in your readings? asked her questioner

"Very little was the reply "I would rather again give what I know will interest and entertain the public The most dramatic passages in literature have not been written since my first appearance on the stage Besides a new generation has sprung up and the majority of those who come to hear me now have never heard me before

The reporter who up to this time had been striving to get his courage to the sticking point, then asked her the unkindest question of all "Mrs. Siddons, he started out "if it is a f—fa—if it is a fair—a fair—question, may I—may—may I ask—ask you—how old you are?

It was done Mrs. Scott-Siddons drew herself back with a haughty smile that spoke louder than words. "Look at the brazen effrontery of these American reporters! There are many customs and usages in this country said she, "that are jarring to our European tastes Why let my looks speak for itself " The reporter entered into a mental arithmetical computation, and came to the conclusion that Mrs Scott Siddons looked to be about 38½ years of age, but had it not been for her late illness she would have the appearance of a blushing lassie of 20 summers.

Mrs Scott-Siddons then entered into a pleasant little chat regarding American women their peculiarities, conversational powers, etc

In closing the interview she said, "I like to have the consciousness of being at my best whenever I appear before an audience My elocutionary powers are not the least impaired through my illness only I am troubled some by a slight cold, making it difficult for me to reach the notes in the highest register These are the ones I cannot quite command. However I shall hope for the best With this parting and an invitation to the reporter to attend her reading the interview closed.

Mrs Scott Siddons has already made dates for her engagement up to Christmas From here she goes to Victoria Vancouver B C Nanaimo Port Townsend, Seattle Tacoma, Walla Walla, and Spokane Falls, under the management of Harry Bell and J P Howe

Most of the seats for her two readings at the Tabernacle (to-night and to-morrow night) are already taken which is a proof sufficient that her hold on the public is still as strong as ever There is but one Mrs. Scott Siddons, and all want to hear her

AT THE THEATERS.

"Little Lord Fauntleroy" Draws a Splendid Audience—"The Convict's Daughter" Continues to Attract.

The largest and most appreciative audience of the week was present at the New Park last night to witness Wallie Eddinger's delightful presentation of "Little Lord Fauntleroy " Occupying one of the boxes was a party composed of the officers of the United States steamer Albatross and none seemed to enjoy the play and recognize its many fine points more than they

The audience was a most enthusiastic one, and evidently thoroughly enjoyed the clever work of the bright handsome boy, as well as the artistic acting of Mr Carl A Haswin in the Earl Miss Minnie [illegible] received a superb basket of flowers amid the plaudits of the audience

Little Lord Fauntleroy again to-night.

PATTI ROSA

Beginning on Monday next this brilliant comedienne will commence a week's engagement at New Park, in her new play in which she has achieved a splendid success Margery Daw

This play supplies probably the brightest and merriest little actress in the country with an excellent opportunity for showing her many attractive qualities There is a succession of pretty and well set scenes plenty of frolicsome fun lively singing and dancing coquettish love making, and general merriment while running through all, and keeping the scenes sufficiently coherent, is a story most desirable in dramatic episodes

CORDRAY'S MUSEE-THEATER.

"The Convict's Daughter with Miss Clyde Harron in the role of the heroine seems to have struck the fancy of the patrons of this popular place of amusement and the audiences continue to keep up to their wonted numbers The company is getting down to its work and gradually smoothing out the rough places in the first performance

MRS. SCOTT-SIDDONS

To-night this talented lady will give her first dramatic recital at the Tabernacle and a rare treat is in store for those who attend

TRIBULATIONS OF A DRUNK

Dragged Through the Street and Relieved of His Money and Timepiece

The abuse and rough usage a drunken man can be put to without sustaining serious injuries is a matter of surprise to all except those who have had the actual experience.

At an early hour yesterday morning one of these midnight worshipers of grog and gin was dragged through Third street by several other toughs and dropped in a dark corner between a pile of boxes and beer kegs His clothing was bedraggled with mud and blood the presence of the former being accounted for through his unceremonious locomotion through the streets and the latter was directly traceable to several severe cuts on the face from which the sanguinary fluid was flowing freely

When the officer found him he was so drunk that he could not walk and he scarcely was aware of his terrible condition The injuries on the face consisted of a smashed nose and several slight cuts

Yesterday forenoon the man recollected nothing of what had occurred in the wee sma' hours of the morning He did know however that he had been robbed of all his money and a gold watch and chain

SOME THINGS THAT PORTLAND NEEDS

Questions That the Cleveland Lawyer Could Have Answered Satisfactorily

A correspondent signing himself "J R. writes as follows to The Oregonian

I read in your paper of the 20th ult an interview that took place between a citizen of Portland and a lawyer of Cleveland O in which the citizen of Portland exhibited as much tact and sagacity in the questions he asked the Cleveland lawyer, as Bob Ingersoll displayed in his defense of Dorsey and Brady in the famous star route case. The result would not have been so happy for Portland had he been wanting in such phenomenal wisdom and propounded the following questions, which, by the way, are very easy, common sense questions often put to a sojourner in a city

Have you as fine drives in Cleveland as we have in Portland? Are your streets and yards as clean and beautiful as those of Portland? Have you toll bridges and ferries in Cleveland as we have in Portland, and has Cleveland as many free libraries as Portland?

Ah! no, the citizen of Portland did not ask those questions and doubtless thought those things had passed unnoticed His legal friend did not mention them out of courtesy but like all wideawake people coming from well regulated cities observed them nevertheless

I have been in Portland only a short time but all these things, besides many more have passed under my observation Portland is a grand city and has many things to be proud of but she has also several necessary reforms Above all she needs a well regulated free library where young men and strangers in the city can pass away their leisure time profitably and pleasantly and not be compelled to resort to the billiard hall and saloon for recreation

HER MONEY OR HER LIFE.

A Chinaman's Bold Attempt to Rob an Almond-Eyed Woman Yesterday

Threatened With Two Large Knives—Her Screams—Chorus of Police Whistles—An Excited Crowd—The Arrest.

About half past 5 o clock yesterday evening the loud and continued blowing of half a dozen police whistles in front of the Chinese store at No 62 Second street near the corner of Pine collected a large crowd in a very few minutes Officer Gibson who had relieved Captain Cardwell while the latter was gone to his lunch was the only man at the police station, and as he was unable to leave his post the whistling continued some time before an officer reached the scene. In the meanwhile the sidewalk in front of the store began to fill up with an excited crowd of Chinamen

When an officer arrived he learned that a Chinaman named Chung Hoon had made an attempt to stab a certain Mrs. Ah Ho in a sleeping apartment on the third floor Chung Hoon was still standing near the door so surrounded by the crowd that he could not make his escape Under his arms he had a large bundle of clothing and an alarm clock which he had stolen in the woman's room He was pointed out to the officer who took him to the city jail Mr Chung Hoon was searched but no murderous weapon, beyond a jack knife was found on his person

The ever vigilant reporter arrived at the jail immediately after the Chinaman's arrest, and learning what the trouble was all about he turned his footsteps towards the scene of the alleged attempted cutting affray

Ascending the two flights of stairs and passing through a long narrow hall with numbered doors opening into it at each side he came upon a scene that can best be described by the words "confusion, worse confounded Several small rooms were filled with Chinese men and women who were talking and haranguing as though their salvation depended upon it

"Wacha Malla here? was asked in stentorian tones

This unexpected intrusion acted somewhat as a damper on the animated din of conversation and a temporary calm ensued The reporter was then shown through the rooms where the trouble occurred Two doors were broken open before the thief and would be murderer reached the room occupied by the woman He ordered her to give up her money and jewelry under threat of immediate death but she only answered him with loud screams for help He then flashed out two long knives and, holding them up to her face told her that he would cut out her heart if she screamed any more while he went through her safe She had considerable money and jewelry in the treasure box and the fear of losing it caused her to scream more lustily than ever

By this time Chung Hoon began to grow nervous The woman dashed by him and down the stairs blowing her whistle, while he picked up her wearing apparel and a clock and started after This was all that occurred, but what might have occurred would make a much longer story

MUCH PLEASED WITH THE COUNTRY

Mr. F. H. Peavey Has Returned From East of the Cascades.

Mr F H Peavey of the firm of Peavey & Co of Minneapolis who are the principal stockholders in the Pacific Coast Elevator Company, has just returned from a trip over the lines of the O R & N Co in company with Mr S C Michener, the resident partner and general manager of the elevator company This is Mr Peavey's first visit to this section and he went over the road to see the company's elevators and also to inspect the grain belt

He was much pleased with the country, especially around Palouse which he thinks has a great future in store, and the trade from which he says ought to come to Portland

He finds the farmers taking kindly to the elevator system and in the country where they are situated outside of Pullman two thirds of the grain is coming in in bulk and many farmers are intending to build granaries next season the same as they have in the East He says the farmers along the O R & N Co's lines have received a quarter of a million dollars more for wheat this year than they would if the elevators had not been established and that they are now able to secure advances on their wheat at 8 per cent He thinks that in five years elevators will be established all over this coast He was most courteously received wherever he went, and was most favorably impressed by the people and the country

Mr Peavey will be present to-day at the starting up of the terminal elevator at Albina which he says is without doubt one of the finest in the country, and will leave for home this evening

THERE WAS NO QUORUM

The City Dads Failed to Hold a Meeting Last Night.

At the time set for the regular meeting of the common council last night Mayor DeLashmutt took the chair and ordered the roll called. The only members present to answer to their names were Castendieck, Forbes Gerde and Scoggin

There not being a quorum present a motion to adjourn to Monday evening next was made and carried and [illegible]

No one appeared to have any idea as to the cause for the absentees absenting themselves, although it is not known that Hoyt was in the city Several of the absent members were in the committee room until the afternoon listening to the pleadings [illegible] and it may be that they were too exhausted to [illegible] up in the evening

Some think they were afraid to tackle the blanket street railway ordinance providing for a cable system of roads

The committee on judiciary had reported the ordinance back without recommendation but it is claimed that [illegible] unexpected strength [illegible]

At all events no one could tell what kind of a coon was in the wood pile, but it will probably come to the surface at the next meeting

JAMES B. STEPHENS' ESTATE

C. A. Gove, the Administrator, Not Satisfactory to Some Relatives.

His Removal Asked by Rosetta Jones and F T. Dick—Affidavits Filed by Both Sides—Conspiracy Charged

When James B Stephens departed this life about four months since he left an estate valued at something like $200 000 On the 10th day of June letters of administration were issued to C A. Gove, but to date he has not filed an inventory of the estate

F T Dick and Rosetta Jones, wife of the business agent of Stephens have filed a petition in the county court asking that Gove be removed from the administratorship of the estate, and that Harvey A Hogue be appointed in his stead The petitioners aver that Gove, W Scott Beebe the former's attorney H H Boyce and John A Carr of the Tacoma heir are conspiring to circumvent the wishes of the deceased in the disposal of the estate and for this purpose it is alleged they have prevailed upon Mrs Elizabeth McCalla daughter of the deceased who it is claimed is of unsound mind to permit them to use her name to further their interests The petitioners in their affidavits further allege that Gove and his alleged co-conspirators are doing their best to get possession of a large portion of the estate which is to be divided between them Gove to be largely rewarded for his assistance in the scheme

WHAT BEEBE HAS TO SAY

W Scott Beebe, the attorney filed an affidavit yesterday morning giving his version of his connection with the case He says that on the 2d of March last he received a telegram from Mrs Elizabeth McCalla then in Los Angeles Cal asking him to institute proceedings against certain persons who claim to have secured conveyances of her father's property just before his death The defendants to the suit he brought in the United States circuit court, in compliance with the telegram from Mrs McCalla are the petitioners, and the suit is based upon the fact that they brought undue influence to bear upon Stephens when he was mentally incapable of understanding what he was doing He denies both that he has been or is now an agreement between himself Gove Carr and Boyce for the conversion of any of Stephens's property He alleges that Carr is in no way connected with any litigation about the property and has no interest in the same Further than that, Mr Beebe says neither he nor Gove expect to receive any greater portion of the estate than the fees the court will award them

GOVE'S SENSATIONAL ALLEGATION

Mr Gove also filed an affidavit He makes a sweeping denial of every allegation made by the petitioners and also asserts that Mrs Jones is the illegitimate daughter of one of Stephens daughters India Stephens and that her father is one Edward Seaton and that Dick is only a nephew of the deceased Gove also says that neither of the last named are heirs at law as the deceased left a surviving daughter Mrs McCalla After denying the charges of conspiracy he goes on to say that more than $100,000 of the estate has been fraudulently obtained by Henry and Rosetta Jones husband and wife and F T Dick.

As a reason for not having filed an inventory since his appointment as administrator Gove says that up to this time none of the property has come in to his possession Mr Gove adds that he accepted the trust upon the solicitation of H. H Boyce whom he regards as an honorable man

THE DECEASED'S DAUGHTER'S AFFIDAVIT

Mrs McCalla, in her affidavit says that the present administrator was appointed at her special instance and request. She says that at the time of her father's illness and subsequent death she was residing in Los Angeles but was purposely kept in ignorance of these facts by Mrs Jones who acted upon the advice of her husband and others who were conspiring to convert the entire estate to their own use Just previous to her father's death he was possessed of $[illegible]00,000 worth of real property and while mentally and physically weakened he was induced to part with it to the exclusion of herself Mrs McCalla, also most emphatically denies that Gove or either of the other persons mentioned in connection with him are conspiring to convert any portion of the estate to their own use

A HEARING TO-MORROW

The hearing of this matter was to have come up before the county court yesterday morning, but as the petitioners asked for time to reply to the affidavits the case was put over until to-morrow afternoon At present this case promises to be one of endless litigation similar to the case of the Ben Holladay estate
